'59 Session Of Congress Is Concluded

Foreign Aid, Civil Rights Commission Measures Passed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress closed out its long and—for the Democratic majority—often frustrating 1959 session early today.

Final adjournment came only five hours before Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev was due in Washington.

The House quit at 6:21 a.m. and the always more leisurely Senate hurried to quit three minutes later, ending the longest continuous session since the Korean War year of 1951.

An hour before adjourning, Senate leaders woke President Eisenhower with a call to the White House, made at his request. They reported they were about ready to quit, and he replied he had nothing more to ask of them this year.

The weary legislators left behind a heavy load of business for their 1960 national election session, starting next Jan. 6.

The final adjournment just before Khrushchev's scheduled arrival pleased some of the members who sought to make sure there would be no occasion for an address by the Premier to the Congress.

Others, who wanted a face-to-face meeting with the Soviet leader, were satisfied with a session arranged by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee at the Capitol Wednesday afternoon.

For the Senate, adjournment ended a 21½ hour session starting at 9 a.m. Monday to clean up the final business of the first session of the 86th Congress.

Congress' final action was to appropriate $3,225,813,000 for foreign aid and about 400 million dollars for miscellaneous other purposes. The aid total $30 million less than Congress had authorized in an earlier bill, was a compromise of Senate and House figures.

Also approved, as part of the bill, was a two-year extension of the life of the Civil Rights Commission otherwise due to die in November. It was given $500,000 in new funds to continue its work in the next year.

The session's end was delayed by a lengthy conference on the foreign aid bill onto which had been tacked a number of clean-up money matters and the Civil Rights Commission's extension—an action bitterly opposed by Southern senators.

Probably the most noteworthy acts of the 1959 session were to admit Hawaii as the 50th state and to pass a far-reaching labor regulation bill.

But the list of major bills left over for what must be a far shorter session next year is longer than the roll of 1959 accomplishments. Congress then will be driven to Congress, Page 9)

Third Lane Will Be Tried At New Spot

A third traffic lane will be set up on a trial basis on E. 5th St. on its approach to Broadway in an effort to expedite auto movement by providing a separate space for motorists anticipating right turns, Safety Service Director Joseph F. Ross told Council Monday night.

Under the new arrangement, the extreme right lane will be reserved for eastbound traffic, the center lane will be set aside for motorists who wish to proceed straight through the intersection or turn left and the third lane will be reserved for drivers wishing to make right turns onto Broadway, he said.

The three-lane section will extend as far up the E. 5th St. hill as the first bend, about in the vicinity of Sugar St., the director said. City ordinances allow establishment of new traffic rules on a 90-day trial basis at the discretion of the director or the chief of police.

East Liverpool has several of the three-lane intersections at present, including Walnut St. at E. 5th St., Jefferson St. at W. 6th St. and Broadway at E. 5th St. The director said the trial may be under way this week, or as soon as the street department can paint new lane markings and erect signs.

He detailed the plan while explaining to Council why center lines have not been repainted on E. 5th St., although the lanes in most other areas have been marked off with fresh paint in anticipation of the fall "fog season."

UN Assembly Launches Its 14th Session

Dramatic Surprise Speculated Friday In Khrushchev Talk

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The U.N. General Assembly opens its 14th session today amid speculation that Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev is preparing a dramatic surprise as part of his speech here Friday.

Diplomats familiar with Soviet thinking expressed doubt that Khrushchev would "pass up an opportunity such as this without a new proposal which would grab worldwide headlines.

Some such move was hinted at by Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov, who said on his arrival in New York that this Assembly might well be a turning point. Kuznetsov will head the Soviet delegation after the departure of Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

Delegates recalled that President Eisenhower, in an address before the Assembly in 1953, caused a world sensation by proposing an international atoms-for-peace agency. This has since then become a reality.

There was no indication as to what sort of proposal Khrushchev might make. The general expectation, however, was that he would make a bid for international cooperation on space exploration or offer a new approach to the disarmament problem.

The opening of the 82-nation Assembly was completely overshadowed by the Khrushchev visit to the United States.

Today's session was limited to the election of officers and the organization of the powerful steering committee which will get down to business Wednesday. Its first business will be whether to place on the agenda such controversial issues as the seating of Red China and the French-Algerian issue. The Assembly will deal with about 70 items.

Council Appropriates $2,500

Minor Repairs Scheduled For Part Of St. Clair Ave.

Council appropriated $2,500 Monday night for stopgap maintenance on the badly deteriorated blacktop pavement of outer St. Clair Ave., principally a seal coat of liquid asphalt and slag to seal the surface against more weather damage next winter.

"We will fill the worst depressions with hot mix blacktop, just the lowest of the low spots," Safety Service Director Joseph F. Ross told Council in outlining the repair that will precede the seal coating. "But it won't be a smooth road when we're finished."

The work will extend from a point near the Riverview Cemetery entrance to the city limits near Cain St. Last night's action

'No Progress' Reported In Steel Walkout

Negotiators Meet 90 Minutes, But Remain Deadlocked

NEW YORK (AP)—Negotiators for the struck steel industry and the United Steelworkers met for 90 minutes Monday, then recessed apparently as stalemated as ever.

As has been the case since the strike of half a million steelworkers began two months ago, the only action came in opposing statements from spokesmen for the companies and the union.

R. Conrad Cooper, city negotiator for the industry, reiterated that the steel companies are opposed to any new contract that would be inflationary. David McDonald, president of the union, reiterated his charge that the companies' concern about inflation is phony.

Many top steel executives, McDonald said, are also directors of some of the nation's biggest banking houses, and as such are contributing to inflation by working for higher interest rates. McDonald said the bank-steel executives "attempt to blame average wage-earners for the evils of inflation."

The industry has contended any agreement that increases wages without compensating changes in work practices to increase per-man production would be inflationary. Prestrike wages averaged $3.11 an hour.

Mrs. Khrushchev's Plans Still Up In Air

WASHINGTON (AP)—While Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's American itinerary has been mapped out down in detail, Mrs. Khrushchev's sightseeing plans are still up in the air.

"I don't think anyone knows yet," said Mrs. Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. when asked what was on the agenda for Mrs. K. "They're waiting until she arrives to let her decide."

Ike Braced For Battle Of Propaganda

Red Chief Expected To Carry On Selling Campaign On Visit

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower and the State Department braced themselves today for a propaganda battle royal during Nikita Khrushchev's visit to the United States.

Probably nothing quite like it has ever been seen before, unless Vice President Richard M. Nixon's debate with Khrushchev in Moscow last July can be considered a precedent.

Khrushchev is expected to wage a selling campaign from Washington to the West Coast and back again in behalf of communism and Soviet policies for dealing with world problems.

Most or all of what he says, U. S. officials believe, will be contrary to the aims and interests of the United States and its allies in world affairs. The President has no intention of letting him have the field to himself.

Responsibility for meeting the challenge has been delegated principally to Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, U. S. representative at the United Nations and veteran of many clashes with the spokesmen of the Soviet Union and other Communist nations.

In addition, any assertions by Khrushchev that merit Eisenhower's personal attention and a White House statement to set the record straight will get such treatment.

And on Thursday morning, a few hours after Khrushchev leaves Washington for New York, Eisenhower will hold a news conference at which he can re-emphasize the U. S. position.

But Eisenhower has ruled out any public discussions between himself and his Soviet guest. He decided weeks ago that their talks should be private, forthright discussions of real policy differences and be devoid of propaganda coloration so far as possible.

Lodge and a staff of expert aides will accompany Khrushchev on his trip over the country as well as take part in the Washington activities beginning today. They are not going out looking for a fight. Their strategy is defensive. But the President wants to be ready to counter any line Khrushchev takes which may threaten American interests.

6 Reported Dead In Texas School Blast

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—An explosion police said may have been set off by a homemade bomb shook the Poe Elementary School today. Police dispatchers said at least six children and adults were killed and at least 18 injured.

The FBI was called in after teachers and students said man carrying a suitcase was on the campus at the time of the explosion.

"Some of them have their legs and arms blown off," said Mrs. Cora Bryan McRae, a former Houston Chronicle reporter who lives nearby. "They are horribly mangled."

Police said one body was that of a man seen carrying a suitcase on the campus.

Newspaper reporters at the scene said many students were injured. Early reports estimated the injured at from 25 to 30.

Police said the couple, Mr. and Mrs. Marion Porch, were released unharmed after the trio drove them to a spot eight miles from town, let them out on a highway and sped off in the Porch automobile.

Another case of breaking and entering was received Monday from Salem.

Robert Jennings, Arthur Clinkscale and Marion Kennedy are defendants.

The docket reached 38 cases with new charges filed and as a result the session may last into next week, with a report seen Monday.

Tank, Auto Mishap Poses 'Federal Case'

A case that promises to raise many fine points over the overlapping jurisdictions and prerogatives of the city of East Liverpool, Columbiana County and the state and federal governments was posed today before Municipal Judge George L. Brokaw when an Army Reservist appeared for arraignment on a State Highway Patrol charge that followed a Labor Day traffic mishap between an Army tank and a private auto.

Sgt. Donald K. Glass, 27, of Laurel Heights, Chester, faces a Highway Patrol affidavit charging essentially that he failed to yield at least half the highway to an auto driven by Mrs. Catherine Martin, 120 W. Drury Ln., a city "Meter Maid."

Mrs. Martin, her husband and their son were injured in the crash, which occurred on the Campground Rd., known officially as County Road 427.

Sgt. Glass appeared before the judge with his commanding officer, Lt. John Markanton, who advised the court Army Regulations do not permit a reservist to enter a plea or make any other statement about such a charge without authority from higher headquarters. The judge agreed to continue the case until Sept. 22.

The tank, assigned to the 7th Medium Tank Battalion, was en route from a Labor Day parade at Wellsville.

A patrol notation on the affidavit said the roadway at the point of the collision is 16 feet 6 inches wide and the tank is 11 feet 11 inches wide. The tank was about a foot on the wrong side of the center line, the patrol report added. The collision occurred about

Men Confess Burglary Bid At Local Cafe

Unsuccessful Entry Preceded Capture In Y. & O. Rd. Tavern

Two men held in County Jail at Lisbon after their capture during an alleged burglary at a tavern on the Y. & O. Rd. near Rock Camp have confessed that they made an unsuccessful attempt a short time earlier to break into an East Liverpool cafe, Police Capt. Robert H. Pyle said today.

Norman L. Ferguson, 27, of Dixonville and Dale E. Musser, 22, of Newton Falls, cousins, have confessed a frustrated burglary attempt at the Harker Ave. Cafe, 1123 Harker Ave., operated by Tony Greco, the acting chief said.

Rather than bring the two to East Liverpool for arraignment at preliminary hearings, the cases will be presented direct to the Grand Jury, which began deliberation of criminal cases today at Lisbon. Pyle said after a telephone conference this morning with Prosecuting Atty. G. William Brokaw.

Both Ferguson and Musser have been held to the Grand Jury by County Judge James L. McDonald at Lisbon on burglary charges in connection with the alleged breaking and entering of the Bar X Tavern early Saturday morning. Musser was bound over Saturday after he entered a guilty plea.

Ferguson pleaded innocent but also was held for Grand Jury investigation after a hearing Monday afternoon in which the judge heard testimony from Claude Wil-

Historical Conferences Set With Ike

President, Other Dignitaries Greet Red Chief At Airport

WASHINGTON (AP)—Nikita S. Khrushchev's huge airliner landed today on American soil.

The leader of world communism and the Soviet Union completed the first leg of a precedent-shattering journey to see the United States and talk with President Eisenhower on cold war issues.

Eisenhower and high-ranking U. S. leaders were on hand for the first visit in history to this country by the head of a Soviet government.

Also waiting at Andrews Air Force Base for the rotund Soviet ruler was the tightest security network of all time for a visiting dignitary.

Early morning reports said the great Russian plane was delayed by headwinds over the Atlantic. But as the morning wore on the turbo-prop made up some of its lost time, and the delay was not as great as some expected.

At the airport, all had been in readiness for hours before the Soviet leader's TU114 finally touched down.

Early in the day, more than 4,000 security guards lined the 15-mile route into Washington from the air force base.

Special armed guards policed the airstrip.

Along the tree-lined parkway leading from the airfield to Washington—Khrushchev's route from the airport—the security men took up their posts early, prepared for virtually any contingency.

Meanwhile, just plain spectators sought places of vantage.

And everywhere swarms of newsmen and photographers, Soviet and American, "were in evidence.

Many In U.S. Protest Visit Of Khrushchev

By The Associated Press
Many Americans got their feelings about communism off their chests Monday—well in advance of the arrival of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev for his United States tour.

Apparently motivated by the government's plea for courtesy to an important visitor, many church organizations and East European groups staged pre-arrival protest demonstrations.

Most such groups have indicated they would not demonstrate—at least not violently—while the Soviet premier and his party are on U. S. soil.

But many sections of the country saw anti-Khrushchev parades, rallies, mourning protests and other demonstrations.

Many newspapers carried paid editorials calling on Americans to mourn and warning against the dangers of too much friendliness toward Communists.

At Rochester, N.Y., and New Haven, Conn., persons of East European origin held silent marches.

A Hungarian church in New York was draped inside and out with black for the entire 12 days of the Soviet leader's visit. In Boston two men draped the outdoor plaque of the Declaration of Independence.

In Washington a protest rally by the American Council of Christian Churches, which represents a small and fundamentalist segment of American Protestantism, drew 600 to the Washington Monument grounds. Chairs had been set up for 2,500.

Roman Catholic churchmen in many areas called for tolling of funeral bells, prayers and other mourning demonstrations.

Special meeting. Local Union 86 Warehousemen, Wed. Sept. 16, 4 p. m. I.B.O.P. Auditorium T.S.&T. members requested to attend, along with all members of other shops. By order of Pres.—Ad.

Calcutta Firemen Respond To Chief's Surprise Drill

A surprise fire drill was staged when Calcutta volunteer firemen met Monday night, with 23 members present.

The alarm was phoned into the station by Chief Laverne Seckman, who had ignited a small structure at the home of Rex Wolfe of Cannons Mill.

Seckman termed the practice drill "very successful", but commented that newer members of the department require more training on use of a pump on the fire truck.

Training in pump operation will be scheduled every week in the future, Norman Neal, president, said. Firemen responded to an alarm

Saturday night when a television set caught fire in the home of Earl Broadbent of Bloomfield. There was only minor damage, firemen said.

Neal announced that firemen will begin their fall schedule of round and square dances in the station beginning Sept. 26. Ruth Lister's band from the local area will furnish music.

Chief Seckman said a siren circuit has been completed and is in operation.

Plans are being made to launch a drive for funds to purchase the department's first new fire truck. The present model—a 1937 Stutz—was purchased from a Pittsburgh fire company.

ing as a guide for an improved educational plan.

Supt. Hall commented that "Mrs. Stanley comes to us highly recommended and we believe that her work will be of the utmost benefit to students in selecting their future careers.

Mrs. Stanley is presently organizing the program of testing and guidance to be concentrated on pupils in seventh and eighth grades and in upper classes.

In other action, the board announced plans for building two additions to Weirton schools and a granted second- and third-year probationary contracts to several teachers.

Supt. Hall, the board's secretary, was authorized to advertise for bids for construction of a six-room addition to the Weir Heights elementary school, and a four-room addition to the Liberty School.

The two projects are the last in a $1 million school expansion program, for which a bond issue was passed by voters in 1957.

Teachers voted second-year probationary contracts included Mrs. Helen L. Chandler, English teacher at Chester High School, Mrs. Jeannie Ridinger, elementary at Chester Central, and Bradley M. Wilcox, science at New Cumberland.

Third-year probationary contracts were granted Mrs. Mary Wright, elementary at Chester Central and Mrs. Clara Mills of New Cumberland.

Mrs. Eleanor Watson of Maryland Heights in Weirton was granted a one-year leave of absence due to illness.

The board also employed Mrs. Margaret Remke as a school nurse for September. Mrs. Remke retired from the post last year to accept employment in the Weirton General Hospital. She will assist Mrs. Charlotte Logston, her successor, this month.

Miss Rosalin Stewart was hired as an elementary teacher at Dunbar School in Weirton.

The board heard a report on enrollment figures by Supt. Hall. The 1959 enrollment of 7,768 is an increase of 150 pupils over the 1958 term.

The total figure includes 4,855 elementary pupils and 2,913 in high schools. Supt. Hall pointed out that the average teacher load in Hancock is 30.1 students, which is "not bad" for West Virginia's average of 32.

The board employed 15 new teachers this year, with the staff now amounting to 293, including principals.

The next meeting is Oct. 5.

liams, owner of the tavern, and Deputy Herman Wellman.

Sheriff Russell J. VanFossan said Williams and his wife, Betty, who reside near the tavern, captured the pair after Musser had forced his way into the building. Ferguson was standing watch outside, pretending that their car was disabled, he said. Mr. and Mrs. Williams held the two at gunpoint until deputies arrived to take them into custody.

Police said two frustrated attempts were made to enter the Harker Ave. Cafe early Saturday morning, but the intruders succeeded only in entering a restroom.

In the first attempt, the pair tried to pry and chip a board to gain entrance, but were unable to remove the board, police said. Then they climbed onto the roof and chopped a 12-x-18-inch hole. Climbing through, they found themselves in a restroom, barred by a door from getting into the tavern proper, police said.

Crane Injures Man's Jaws

Raymond Boso, 4, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Boso of 5th Ave., LaCroft, was treated for a bruise of a finger of the right hand on which a car door closed.

In a fall while playing at home, Linda Smith, 12, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Smith of Bloomfield, received a finger injury.

Gregory Stacey, 2, son of Mr. and Mrs. Laurin Stacey, 1325 Fairmont St., suffered first degree scalds of the face when a cup of tea spilled on him.

Cecil Cook, 32, of 412 College St. was treated for a cut of a finger received when he grabbed and caught himself to keep from falling from a roof.

Eskie Wilson of Hookstown, an employee of the Homer Laughlin China Co., was treated for a puncture wound of the right hand received at work.

Khrushchev

Because of the scrambled arrival schedule Eisenhower twice changed his plans for getting to the airport. Originally he had expected to go by car, then ordered up a helicopter, and still later he called for a car once more.

It was a clear, sparkling day and the temperature was in the 70s.

Over Scandinavia, Moscow radio reported, Khrushchev had flashed greetings to Premier Einar H. Gerhardsen of Norway and Tage Erlander of Sweden, a gesture emphasizing the propaganda undercurrents in the Khrushchev visit which have concerned many Western leaders.

And as he winged over Canada Khrushchev messaged Prime Minister John Diefenbaker: "I send you and your colleagues and through you, the whole Canadian people, friendly greetings and best wishes."

Some expected the Soviet leader to produce some sort of highly dramatic surprise during his American tour, possibly at the U. N. Friday. Khrushchev has proclaimed his purpose to be securing "peaceful conditions for all persons on earth."

But most American leaders indicated they expected no sudden and miraculous melting of the cold war ice as a result of the Soviet leader's 13-day visit.

Mr. K Is Not Out-Of-Town Buyer

There's no time now to do any more stage-setting for the premier of the Soviet Union. It can be hoped he may take no notice of signs that the United States reacted to his visit as if it had to prove something.

Even if his government's numerous employees in this country report all these signs, it is possible the Premier may lack time to study them. The implications are not reassuring.

They reveal a depth and a breadth of ignorance about Khrushchev's role in these mid-century years that must make a man in his position wonder if Americans never read the newspapers they buy by the millions.

Are Americans unaware of the march of events in China, a country whose population is so large it cannot be counted but can only be estimated as upward of three quarters of a billion people? Are they unaware of the magnitude of the Asiatic land mass and its teeming hordes, now being introduced in China and India to the tools of modern industrialism? Do they realize what nuclear weapons would mean in the hands of a government that could sacrifice half a billion people and thereby make itself stronger? Have they forgotten that President Eisenhower said the meetings with Khrushchev concerned the "future of the human race"? Don't they know what is meant by "Communist conspiracy"?

The head of the Russian state is no out-of-town buyer who must be wined and dined to make a good impression so he can be sold something. He doesn't give two whoops in an ideological rain barrel what supermarkets and widgeit factories look like.

Premier Khrushchev wants to talk terms in a discussion of survival in the second half of the 20th century. He may laugh sometimes and pat kiddies on the head — and what politician doesn't in the practice of his trade? But he is essentially a hard, shrewd man who has taken advantage of the failure of the Western Allies to drive a hard bargain in Germany. Like it or not, they now must listen to what he has to say—and no amount of protesting and demonstrating against his presence will cover up that fact.

He is in no mood to be sold anything. He is looking for nothing to buy. Obviously, he wants to see the United States. But more obviously, he wants to be heard by American politicians and businessmen — the kind of people who can make decisions that might stimulate trade between his country and theirs. The alternative to trade would be more rumblings of war.

His visit here and the return visit of President Eisenhower to Russia are so far from the "visiting fireman" concept that any hint of impressing an out-of-town visitor is ridiculous.

Everybody Must Be Viewed Alike

An alert Washington newspaperman who learned that all 47 senators who voted for the "bill of rights" in the 1959 labor-reform law had received $50 campaign contributions from a Florida businessman deserves praise for being on the ball.

Alert senators who spotted the danger in this kind of a financial monkeyshine and sent the money back without thinking twice about it were on the ball, too. They knew the danger of bad publicity, and besides some of them won't be running for anything for years. None of them needs a campaign contribution this year.

But it's always a fair question when something like this occurs to wonder about the other side of the cloth. Labor reform was a hot issue in Congress this year. Washington was full of lobbyists. The Teamsters Union brought in field representatives by the dozen to tell representatives and senators what its president, James R. Hoffa, wanted them to do and to give them a general idea what he would do if they didn't do what he wanted them to do etc. AFL-CIO had its agents on hand. The U.S. Chamber of Commerce and the National Association of Manufacturers had that left-out feeling.

It seems likely that "campaign contributions" may have been flying around like confetti in a gale and that not all of them may have flown into the mail boxes of some four dozen senators who voted for a certain section of the labor-reform bill.

This was the session of Congress that was supposed to have been fool-proofed against labor reform by campaign contributions that flew around in 1958, when candidates for Congress were campaigning. A campaign contribution is a campaign contribution is a campaign contribution and it smells just as sweet one year as another.

The question is: How many contributions from the other side of the issue were sent back where they came from lest some solon's integrity be compromised?

The Eye-Poppers Are Coming

Advertising departments of the auto companies should be cheerful places this fall.

They have an advantage most of them have lacked for longer than they care to remember.

Public curiosity about the products they must sell has been honed to a sharp edge. It will be easier to get people to auto showrooms than it has been for a long time.

More people will be doing more talking.

Reading material about automobiles will be read with more depth of interest. Pictures of new cars will be studied more closely.

The principal reason is the fact this is the year when all the auto manufacturers will be making compact models. These are new. They are significant of something happening in the U.S. auto industry. And it goes without saying that millions of potential purchasers will want to know about them.

The auto industry is not sure which way the cat will jump, but its members know it will not stay where it is. The "compacts" will make a hard impact somewhere, perhaps on the imported versions that have preceded them, perhaps on the standard-size U.S. auto, perhaps on the heavyweights that so far have represented the ne plus ultra of every American with a trade-in or a down-payment.

A much needed to be seen, much remains to be learned. The U.S. public will be eager for information. It's an advertiser's dream.

Keep Roaring

We add our congratulations to the others which the club will be receiving and express the hope that the local Lions continue to roar loud and long for years to come.

BROADWAY NOW HAS A STATUE to the showman who was above all others—"Mister Broadway": George M. Cohan. The city has been so long getting around to it that the dedication constituted a "late curtain."

Cohan, a boy wonder of show biz, came out of Providence, R.I., in his early teens with his father, mother and sister in famed vaudeville act "The Four Cohans." He was a dreamer of big dreams and hit New York early. His reception was none too warm, due to the fact he was pretty bumptious and annoying as a kid. But in no time he was writing hit songs and hit musicals, starring in many of the latter.

Partnership with Sam Harris, who had come out of fight promotions into the theater, proved a tremendously successful combination. In later years Cohan mellowed and was successful in more serious phases of show biz. Broadway was in his blood all his life.

JOHN HAY WHITNEY believes in small and medium-sized town background for editors. He has now picked for a top berth in his newspaper operations, Dwight Sargent, who got his training in places like Biddeford, Portland and New Bedford.

In towns of this type a man gets more of an all-around newspaper training in a month than he gets in the big city in a year.

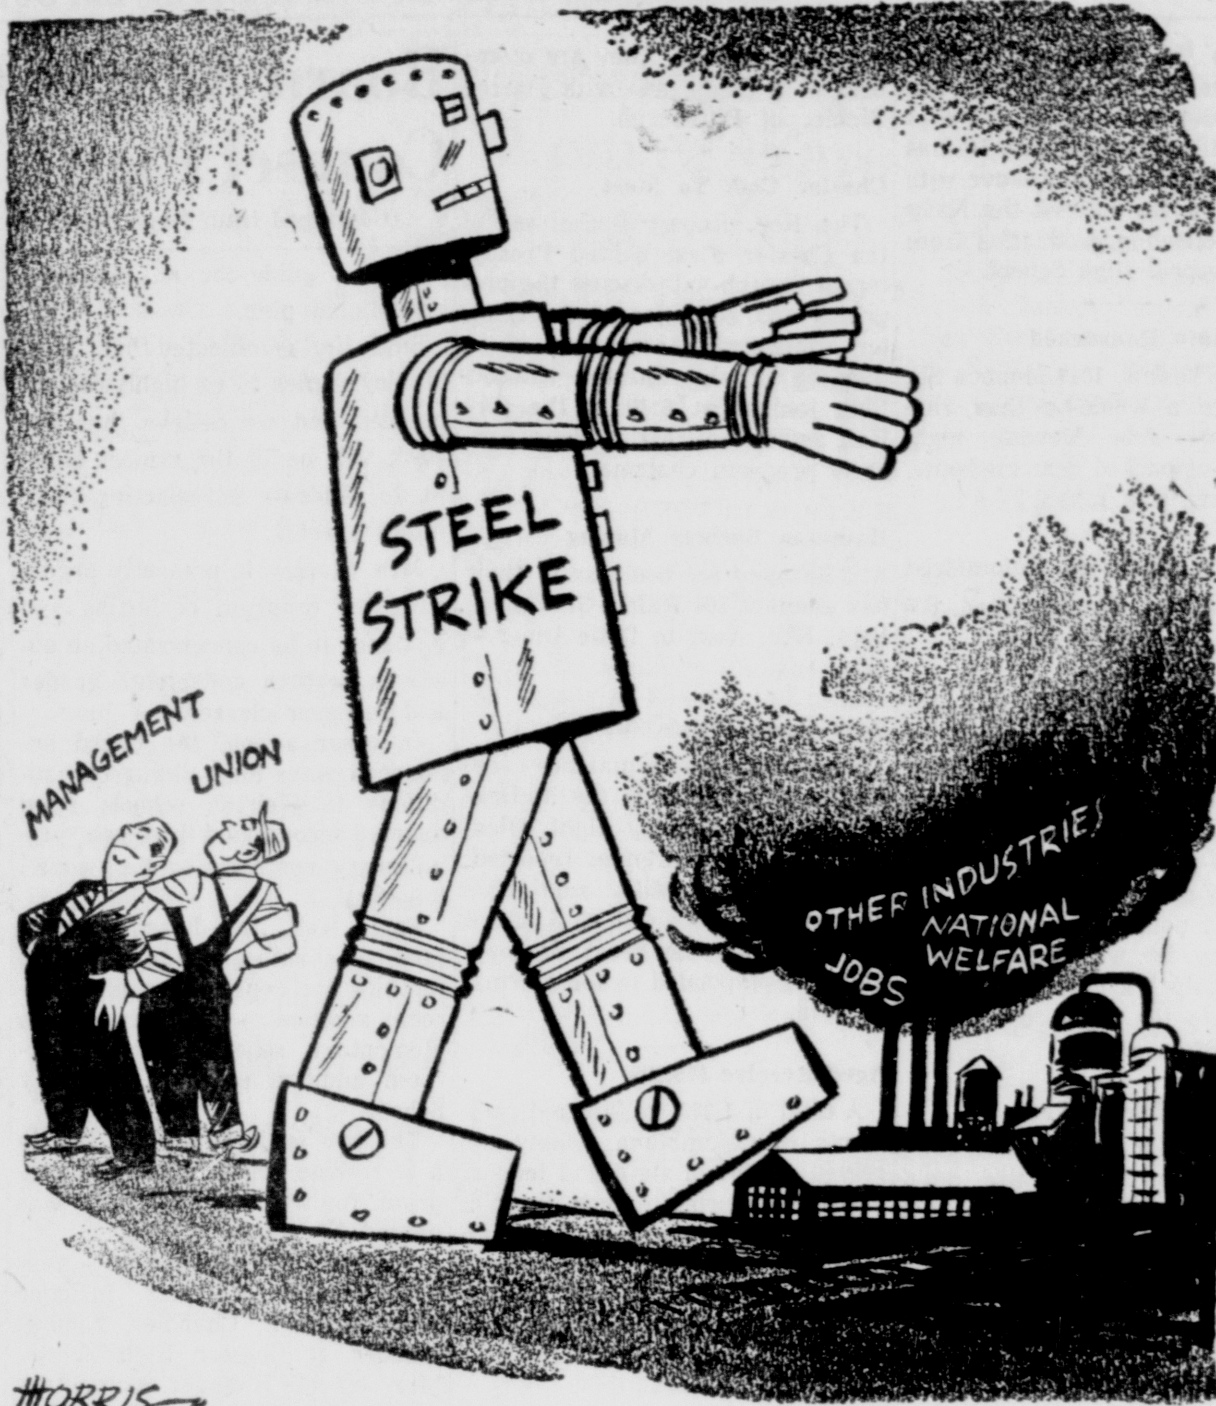

How well we know it! We were managing editor of a New England paper at 23 and in the course of training had to cover all types of stories, run the city desk, take photographs, help with make-up and, on big occasions, give a hand in the circulation department. On the side we did sports cartoons and started the paper's first humor column.

Oblivious To Their Frankenstein

MORRIS

Soviet Industry Is In Earnest

By Victor Riesel

Vice President Nixon is the highest American leader ever to go directly into Soviet factories and make direct contact with Soviet labor.

I asked him for his impressions and reactions to his rare unscheduled visits and talks.

This is Vice President Nixon's full reply to the queries:

"In another seven years we will be on the same level as America. And then we will go further and pass you by. Then if you wish we will stop and wave and say—follow us."

"It was Soviet Premier Khrushchev who made this boast during our 'great debate' at the American Exhibition in Moscow this summer. And there are two significant things to be said of it.

"The first is this: As one who has seen both American and Soviet mines and mills and factories in operation, I do not for a moment think they will succeed in making this boast good. Nothing I saw during my travels this summer made me believe the Soviet Union will catch up with American technology and productivity in seven years—or in seventy.

"But make no mistake about it—they are in earnest; they mean business about achieving their goals and Soviet industrial progress since World War II has in fact been at a high rate.

"We are ahead now and we can stay ahead—but only if we keep on moving ahead. We must, in short, maintain the record of economic growth and progress that has brought us to our present level.

"So it is necessary that we ask ourselves what has been the dynamic source of this matchless record of sustained progress. I think the answer is clear: In one word, the dynamic has been freedom.

There is some thing called a 'union' in every Soviet factory, and there is something called 'management'—but both are in fact arms of the state. Both are completely state controlled. And all the key decisions are state decisions.

"There is no real bargaining; there are no strikes; wages and hours are set by the state and the councils that hear workers' grievances are, again, nothing but official administrative bodies. Wherever he turns, the Soviet worker is directly subject to state control.

"There is nothing in the Soviet Union comparable to our free trade unions. A Soviet union is in fact a sort of a social club—and a center for indoctrination and political 'education.'

"At its best it is roughly the equivalent of our so-called 'company unions'—a way-station that American unions have long since passed by in their march to a position in American society of effective freedom and power.

"Another striking feature of the status of the Soviet worker—and I'm still describing reality, not official theory—is the enormous gulf between labor and management—in terms of pay, social position, all sorts of special privileges—from the use of company cars to holiday resorts to advanced educational opportunities.

"As Milovan Djilas has so effectively pointed out, this social and economic hierarchy tends to be self-perpetuating. There is less mobility in Soviet society than in just about any industrial nation in the world today. This, again, is the reality of the 'workers state'!

"I WAS AMAZED, in the Soviet factories I visited, by the lack of direct contact between the individual workers and the 'bosses.' Soviet workers seem to be treated always in mass terms—the inevitable result, of course, of Marxism's emphasis on abstractions like 'the bourgeois' and 'the proletariat' and 'the class conflict.'

"Even my official 'hecklers' among the workers seemed to be taken aback when I treated them as individuals and when I suggested they make up their own minds, as individuals, about the problems we face.

"If more and more Soviet citizens could see for themselves the real status of the free American worker—or, at least, hear and read about it—if only we can find ways greatly to expand the free exchange of ideas and information and direct person-to-person contact, I think the effect would be devastating.

"Communist theory and Communist propaganda simply do not square with the facts of life. And I am convinced that these facts cannot be suppressed forever: No Iron Curtain is proof, over the long run, against the explosive force of the very concept of freedom, or against the economic success story of freedom in action.

"That is why I stress that to stay ahead of the Soviet Union, we must keep moving ahead and that to move ahead, we must never forget that the dynamic source of American progress is the responsible exercise of freedom—by labor, by management, by every individual consumer.

"The burden of self-discipline—which boils down to claiming rewards only for real contributions to productivity—is on each one of us. "Our response to this challenge, over the past, has been the secret of our matchless record. I feel sure we will in the same way fulfill the promise of the years ahead."

This Is America, Mr. K

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

That dreamer of Soviet dreams, Premier Nikita Khrushchev, comes whizzing into America at a time when he says "fair tales are becoming a reality" for mankind.

He himself—thanks to 20th century magic—comes in a jet as smooth as a flying carpet to a land which, when he looks around, will seem like a fairy tale turned true.

He descends out of the skies into the most prosperous country in the history of man. But it is not a simple land, nor a perfect one. Khrushchev could understand that, since the Soviet Union is a country of contradictions, too.

This is a land which prides itself on the slogan—"All Men Are Created Equal"—but which never completely believed or practiced it, and still doesn't. Witness the segregation of Negroes, the prejudice against Jews and Catholics.

Khrushchev could understand that, also. In the U.S.S.R. anti-Semitism has run deep—even deep in blood.

This is a land where men are free to work, quit or strike but where the overwhelming number, 67 million, prefer to work. But still a land where, despite all the riches and resources, 3,426,000 are unemployed. And yet a land where beggars are few, thanks to the various government aids created painfully over the years amid much dispute.

This is a land which was shocked by the Soviet display of scientific genius—in the Sputniks and the moonshot—but which is doing much less than it can afford in education. The U. S. Office of Education says 200,000 more teachers and 130,000 more classrooms are needed. There are 4½ million students this year.

America is a land of contrasts. People too poor to pay doctors' bills go to charity hospitals. Yet millions out of their weekly pay checks take out insurance against future doctors' and hospital bills to avoid charity while they can.

This is a land forever preaching free enterprise but where various pressure groups—for instance, farmers—are looking for special benefits and socialism has spread slowly over the years.

It is a land which seemed to learn slowly the need of old people, but it is learning. Over 10½ million people, most of them 65 or over, are drawing government old age pensions which they helped pay for in their working years.

America is a place where 14 per cent of the people earn under $2,000 a year, 64 per cent earn between $2,000 and $8,000, and the remaining 22 per cent earn over $8,000, all the way up to the 200 or so whose income is a million or more.

This, too, is the land where personal income this year is running at the rate of 384 billion dollars and individuals pay 38½ billion in federal income taxes and corporations pay a tax bill of 20½ billion.

America is a land where the typical family has a one-family home or apartment, quite a contrast to the Soviet Union where in the big cities, at least, four or more families may have to crowd into one apartment, with one bathroom.

In Pittsburgh Khrushchev will see something which may be incomprehensible to him and which he would never permit: a strike which has shut down 85 per cent of America's vital steel production and has kept 500,000 men idle two months today.

More than 45,000,000 of the 51,000,000 U. S. households—or 88 per cent of all U. S. households—will receive a daily newspaper today.

Khrushchev's Game

By David Lawrence

U.S. Should Recognize Red Diversion

The American people are entitled to know the game Soviet Premier Khrushchev is playing.

It is a game of diversion—rockets to the moon, protracted conferences on disarmament and nuclear tests and summit talks that, if carried on for years, are intended to make the American people grow weary of international tension and finally to accept the unmoral and unlawful conquests of millions of peoples now enslaved.

There are two instruments of power in the world today that can affect the peace of mankind. One is military and it is designed to act as a deterrent to physical aggression. The other is moral force which when developed to full strength can influence whole nations and cause them to rise up against their oppressors.

Khrushchev's game is to deaden the moral force that has made liberty-loving nations so articulate in world history in behalf of human freedom.

Khrushchev's game is to make it appear that, by exchanges of visits, by expansion of trade, by constant talk of "peaceful co-existence," Americans are abandoning their dedication to moral force.

This is expected to discourage revolt behind the Iron Curtain. If America becomes indifferent, the captive nations, it is presumed, will lose all hope.

KHRUSHCHEV'S GAME is based on a belief that Americans are influenced only by selfishness and materialism—solely by the desire of businessmen for more trade—and that such idealism as remains can be anesthetized by wearisome and exhausting negotiations, or by implied threats of war through emphasis on missile and rocket development.

Khrushchev's game reaches a climax in propaganda intensity this week as he visits the United States. The dispatches and radio reports from America telling of "enthusiasm" for him, official honors paid and courtesies extended, together with news pictures of high American officials fraternizing with Khrushchev, will be displayed throughout Eastern Europe and behind the Iron Curtain, generally, as meaning approval of Communist policies by the people of the United States and their government.

What can the American people do about it? Various types of protests have been planned for the next two weeks and will be publicized widely.

These devices are effective psychologically to some extent abroad but it is here in Washington that the biggest opportunity has been missed.

The Congress speaks for the American people. It should have decided to stay in session throughout the Khrushchev visit to allow for an extensive debate on the "cold war" issues. This would have told the world in unequivocal terms that the American people have not forgotten what happened in Hungary and East Germany.

It would have furnished an opportunity to ask Khrushchev openly what has become of the millions of persons exiled to concentration camps behind the Iron Curtain and to expose to full view the operations of his autocratic government.

MORAL FORCE is potent when it effectively expresses a nation's ideals and when it seeks by debate and discussion to underline and emphasize the basic principles of human freedom.

Actually there is only one issue. It is the self-determination of peoples everywhere—the right of the people to vote in free elections and choose their rulers.

In the Soviet Union, only one party can vote and military duress is applied to suppress free speech and debate.

Just the other day, Khrushchev himself publicly told a group of Soviet writers that they were overstepping the bounds in their criticism and that he might have "to shoot a few of you, and my hand will not tremble."

Moral force means a constant emphasis on the right of peoples to govern themselves.

Moral force means the exercise of the right of free speech persistently, without regard to the inhibitions of official courtesy.

While the President and high officials of our own government must follow the "amenities," this does not bind the American people.

There must be only peaceful demonstrations and never the slightest encouragement of disorder.

THE AMERICAN people ought not to be misled into allowing so-called "courtesy" to squelch those expressions of contempt for tyranny which ought never to be suppressed.

For the "Butcher of Budapest," and the man who is responsible for the murder, exile and imprisonment of tens of thousands of people in Eastern Europe, cannot be allowed to believe that his crimes have been forgotten.

To know to dictators and to let them misconstrue official courtesy as approval of their cruel acts, would be a backward step for America in world history.

Today tens of millions of people in the world are in bondage. Many of them are being tortured daily in concentration camps by the two big Communist regimes—in Moscow and Peking.

It is time to show the deepest sympathy for the oppressed and to speak frankly to the visiting ruler who has earned the doubtful distinction of having by his acts become the cruelest man in the world today.

Prayers are in order—prayers to the Almighty to give courage to the faltering and to find ways to bring the criminally guilty to the bar of justice.

"Peaceful co-existence" should mean freedom for everybody and not a world half slave and half free.

Musical Mathematics

By Ian Menzies

BOSTON

Ercolini Ferretti believes that some day a man may do the equivalent of composing and performing a symphony concert by himself.

A creative person has an idea and the objective is to communicate this idea, according to the 40-year-old musician turned engineer at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He believes the present range for communicating musical ideas is exhausted.

So he has turned to electronics. All musical sounds start with a basically mechanical act—plucking a violin string, beating a drum, blowing a horn. By using electrical waves, which can't be converted into acoustical energy, Ferretti says it is possible to generate any sound.

By using electrical waves, one man literally could put his creative thoughts into symphonic music immediately. This is the key to making the abstract music Ferretti sees as a jet-age art.

FERRETTI WORKS in mathematical equations related to electrical wave forms. He uses equations rather than a score. There is a family of equations which corresponds to electrical wave forms which give musical sounds as we know them.

He organizes these sounds as a composer would notes and puts the equations on values of these sounds on a wave form generator. The wave forms, recorded on audio tape, can be played in the usual way.

Until now, and to prove his ideas, he had to work mechanically. Now he is working on incorporating computers to take over the mechanical work of applying the sound values to the wave form generator and thus have much wider scope.

The advantages, according to Ferretti, are that one person can improvise without being dependent on others to catch his exact feeling.

Ferretti has satisfied himself that his ideas can work. And machines, unlike divas and conductors, do not have temperaments.

Burgess Urges Delay

Midland Area School Merger Aired

Burgess Eli Corak appeared before the Midland Board of Education Monday night in connection with an unofficial meeting of the board and members of the Chamber of Commerce last week concerning a possible jointure of the Midland and Western Beaver County School Districts.

Midland stands to lose tuition fees of many students if the Western Beaver County School District builds a proposed high school and the chamber has proposed a possible jointure to prevent loss of the students and the revenue.

THE BURGESS said a jointure may not be the only answer. He said possible solutions will be offered by the comprehensive plan now being prepared by planning engineers.

He said he believes the board should defer any action on a possible jointure until completion of the master plan. Jack Wilson, a representative of Morris Knowles Inc. of Pittsburgh, planning engineers, said at a recent Council meeting the plan will be ready about November.

Corak also suggested that the chamber may not be qualified without statistics to provide an answer.

During other business, the board decided to continue offering free night classes to residents and set tuition for non-residents at $9.95 per class. Tuition for all taking adult driver's training was set at $30 for 8 hours' instruction and $4 each for any additional hour.

GERALD LAVALLE was hired as driver training instructor at $2.50 per hour. Information on registration and types of classes will be announced soon.

The board accepted the resignation of Ray Keller, maintenance supervisor, effective Thursday. He has accepted a position with the Pine-Richland School District after serving Midland schools about 17 years.

Ray Conjeski, custodian at the 4th St. School, was appointed maintenance supervisor retroactive to Sept. 11 on a motion by Frank Alois, personnel chairman.

The Lincoln High School varsity marching band was given permission to participate in half-time ceremonies during the homecoming game of St. Vincent College of Latrobe Oct. 10 with transportation to be provided by the Midland Steelworkers Union. Approval was given on a motion by Edward Cilli.

THE BOARD also granted permission for the band to attend the Mt. Lebanon band festival Sept. 24 with no expense to the board.

John Shovlin, vice president, and Edward Cilli were named delegate and alternate, respectively, to the Pennsylvania School Directors Association convention Oct. 15-17 at the Penn-Sheraton Hotel in Pittsburgh.

The board also granted permission for Miss Bernice Coffin, board secretary; Robert Masters, solicitor; and other board members to attend the conference on a motion by Samuel Rosatone.

The Antonio Del Pizzo Co. of Midland was awarded a contract for a drainage system along the walk behind the new gymnasium building for $1,918. The Beaver Asphalt Paving & Construction Co. of New Brighton asked $3,125.50 in the only other bid.

MISS COFFIN was authorized to advertise for bids for coal for the 1st St. School.

The board approved purchase of a duplicating machine and an automatic calculator for $1,489.60 from the William P. Pollock Co. of Beaver and the Friden, Inc., of Youngstown. An allowance for the machines had been made in last year's budget, Supt. Ralph Jewell said.

Celli, rules and regulation committee chairman, received approval on his motion for revision of two rules. Pupils absent five consecutive days must present a doctor's certificate of illness before they can be readmitted to school.

Teachers, absent due to illness, must present a doctor's certificate before their salary will be paid.

The rules are retroactive to Sept. 1. Substitute teachers' pay was set at $20 per day on a motion by James Morrison.

THE FOOTBALL squad of the Hot Stove League was granted permission to use the athletic field if advance notice is given Principal William A. Walters. Whether league members and Presentation Parochial School players will be given free tickets to attend high school football games will be decided this week at a meeting of the ticket committee of the board's Athletic Council. The committee includes Shovlin, Morrison and John Haggerty.

John Mueller, league secretary, was present. Some confusion had resulted when the league did not know that its use of the field had to be approved annually by the board.

Dr. Constantine Mourat and Dr. Harold Ciccarelli were named to fill the school doctor post at $4,000 for the term.

THE APPLICATION of Darrell Stillwagon for junior high school basketball coach was filed with other applications. Shovlin also moved that Keller be paid $200 for extra work at the athletic field. The board approved.

The board approved the transfer of Nick Satlan, high school custodian, to 4th St. School for $385 a month pending a replacement. The resignation of Mary Roksandich, clinic clerk, was accepted.

Keller reported that the board may expect an estimate in several days for setting light poles at the Midland Heights Playground. He also reported that due to varying water pressure in the borough, a pressure valve on a main water line "blew" at the new building Friday. He said the Mancine Plumbing and Heating Co. of Monaca has been consulted.

A BILL OF $300 for auditing of the district's 1958-59 books by Nick Zapsic, Lester Barr and Anna Vidakovich, auditors, was approved.

In officers' reports, Mrs. Eldamae Castelli, treasurer, listed a $298,146.87 balance as of Aug. 31. Rudolph Presutti, tax collector, listed $397,088.07 deposited in taxes during August with $60,803.64 remaining on the 1959 tax duplicate of $495,155.63.

Cash receipts of $700.18 were accepted to be placed in the proper account. Purchase of books in the amount of $190.89 were approved on a request of Carnegie Library trustees.

General bills of $29,889.45 and special bills of work contracted during the summer in the amount of $21,613.51 were approved, along with interim orders placed by Supt. Ralph Jewell since the last meeting in the amount of $1,070.13.

The board approved the transfer of $48,151.68 from the general account to the payroll account on a motion by Morrison.

A stop sign was also requested for Mud Ln. at Maple Ln. The next meeting will be Oct. 5 when county and other township officials will attend to hear a discussion of a proposed grid numbering system for the area.

Wellsville Board Promises Repairs

Nicholson Stadium Rooms Scored

A promise that something will be done in the future to replace the dressing rooms at Nicholson Stadium was given an eight-man delegation which complained to the Wellsville Board of Education Monday night on the condition at the football field.

The delegation said the dressing rooms were inspected last week. O. B. Kessel, sanitation officer for the City Health Department, said he made the tour with the group and found conditions "very bad."

"A GENERAL cleaning of the urinals and toilets is needed," he said, commenting that visitors could carry away a bad impression of Wellsville.

Earl Smith, another member of the group, said the dressing rooms are the primary concern. Various organizations are worried about the fact that the shower rooms are located under a section of the stadium which has been closed off because it is unsafe. The fence, main entrance and concession stands also need repair, Smith said.

Earl Bake, board president, said that repairs and cleaning were started Monday. "The board is aware of the condition that exists but it is not as bad as first reports were circulated," he said.

Each year the dressing rooms are cleaned and loose concrete on the ceiling is knocked loose, Bake said. After having been closed since the end of the previous football season, the dressing rooms do get dirty and are very damp but are always cleaned before the new season begins.

BAKE pointed out that when an eight-tenths-mill levy was adopted two years ago, a list of projects on which the money would be used included repairs to the stadium. All of these projects have been completed with the exception of three, one of which is the stadium. "We are about a year ahead of schedule," he said.

Bake chided the delegation for not asking some of the board members to be present for the inspection. "If you fellows had come to the board and asked questions you would have received satisfactory answers," he said.

Smith said it was not the object of the group to "step on anyone's toes." Several organizations, including the Eagles Aerie, Elks Lodge, American Legion Post 70, Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 9285 and 5647, the Jaycees and the Omni Orange and Black Activity Club are concerned over the situation, he said.

THE GROUP was given reports of engineers who made examinations and test of the center-section of the stadium, which was closed two years ago. Russell Dyser, board member, said it would cost $8,700 to put a sealer over the section but pointed out this would just mean added weight. One engineer said there is no danger of collapse even with a capacity crowd as long as they don't "jump up and down." Thus there is no danger to the boys in the shower rooms, he said.

Raymond Rolley, clerk, read a list of repairs made to various schools during the past 2 years which totaled more than $22,000. The eight-tenths mill levy brings in only about $7,500 a year.

At the conclusion of the lengthy discussion, Smith suggested that perhaps the organizations could make a community project of erecting new dressing rooms in another part of the stadium. The board said it would aid in any such project and a meeting was set for Saturday at 10 a. m. at the stadium to discuss possibilities.

DURING the discussion, one man said that the urinals in the public restrooms are always overflowing. Bake said it is hard to keep people from throwing trash into them. Another said the conditions were "horrible" and that the toilets were left standing full of filth. When questioned by Dyser, Kessel said he did not see any actual sewage filth.

The board also pointed out that no reports have been received from the coaches of any undue conditions at the stadium.

Dyser said if the dressing rooms are moved to another section, dirt fill can be placed under the center-section, allowing it to be opened again.

Because of the size of the delegation, the board moved from its regular meeting room at the Beacon Memorial Gymnasium to a classroom at the Daw Junior High School.

IN OTHER business, the board informed Mrs. Wanda Hanlon, Garfield Parent-Teacher Association president, and Mrs. Mildred Elliott, a member, that the PTA can, if it desires, have the lot at the rear of the school blacktopped for a playground area. Mrs. Elliott said the PTA will set this as a goal.

Two women were informed that it is permissible to leave playground equipment up all year. Bake thanked the PTA for its cooperation.

Rowen Oil Co. of Wellsville was awarded a contract to provide oil, gasoline, lubrication and other supplies for school buses. Gasoline will be 25.8 cents per gallon, less federal tax, oil, 40 and 50 cents a quart, depending on the grade, and lubrication $2 per bus. Percentage discounts were offered on other supplies. It was the lone bid. Rolley said he checked five other garages and they did not want to enter bids, claiming they could not meet Rowen's prices.

THE BOARD approved the purchase of a $40 portable eye testing device for use of the school nurse. The board also agreed to pay $1 per day for teachers in charge of students during lunch hour.

The board discussed the new elementary school hours but did not make any changes. The children now report 15 minutes earlier than last year and some complaints have been received by board members. Mrs. Elliott said she made a poll of 20 in Garfield School and found they are now satisfied. Last week the parents did not like the new hours, she said.

Supt. S. E. Daw turned over $280 to clerk. The money was collected for sale of supplies and fees. He gave a report on the various schools. An ungraded class has been started at McKinley, he said. He also reported a Spanish class has been started in the junior high. Eighteen have signed and 24 are expected, he said.

Bus Problems To Be Studied

Following through on complaints from patrons, Council will seek to confer at its meeting next Monday night with Andrew H. Holtz, operator of the Holtz Transportation Co., which serves East End.

Councilman William Y. Orr, head of the franchise committee, was asked to arrange for Holtz to attend the next meeting after complaints against his service were filed last night by Councilmen H. A. Tullis and A. Stanley Kidder.

"In the last three or four days, I have received numerous complaints about the condition of the buses, the schedules and the very unsatisfactory answers given by the drivers and Holtz to patrons who asked about conditions," Tullis told Council.

Last Thursday, five East End women on their way home from work in potteries waited at the terminal from 3 to 5 p. m., expecting a bus to East End, but finally gave up and hired a taxi, Tullis said.

"Three of them are elderly women who cannot drive to get to their work in the potteries," he said. "They have to depend upon buses."

Then President B. E. Warner suggested the franchise committee arrange a conference between Holtz and Council. The suggestion was adopted after it was put in the form of a motion by Councilman Samuel L. Webber and seconded by Councilman George E. Willshaw.

Webber commented that he has observed Holtz school buses operating as regular passenger buses. He said he believes the distinctive school bus signs should be covered when the buses are used as common carriers to avoid confusion both for motorists and prospective passengers.

"I, too, had several calls on the bus line," Kidder said. "I asked Holtz to black out the school bus signs when the buses are being used on regular runs. He told me he has had four major breakdowns, which isn't surprising to me, based on the equipment he is using."

"I feel it is our duty to see that he gives better service than he has given in the past," Kidder said. "I think Council has gone as far as it can with him. He can't run those school buses to Wellsville, so why should he operate them here?"

Firemen Plan Dinner Event In Ohio Twp.

Council Has A Busy Night

Protest Filed Over Weeds, Junk

East Liverpool needs an ordinance to require property owners to clean up lots grown up in weeds or covered with junk and debris to the extent they have become community eyesores, Councilman Samuel B. Webber told Council Monday night.

Webber asked the planning committee to confer with Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper on preparation of legislation that would require property owners to keep weeds cut and prevent junk and debris from accumulating.

As examples of the conditions he seeks to correct, he cited a vacant lot at W. 5th and Jefferson Sts., which is grown high with weeds, and the ground surrounding the former Nazarene Church building at Lincoln and St. Clair Aves.

"I would like the administration to contact these people once again to see if something can be done," Webber said, after making his suggestion for new legislation. He said he understands "two prominent city physicians" own the lot at W. 5th and Jefferson.

Discussing weed - grown lots, Councilman Robert W. Sample Jr. said adjoining residents sometimes have to take matters into their own hands.

"That same situation existed in the rear of my property several years ago," he said. "We borrowed scythes from the city to cut the weeds. The only way we could get it done was to do it ourselves."

Two Street Lights Approved

In other business, Council approved an Ohio Power Co. suggestion to install two new street lights — one on Ceramic St. at Logan St. and the other on Logan St.

Originally, Council requested a light on Logan St., but the power company replied that the installation would have required it to extend its street light circuit beyond the maximum distance for a single new fixture. Council accepted the company's suggestion for the second new light at an intermediate point.

Council filed a letter from the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. office in Pittsburgh advising that it will seek vacation of Crook Alley between the Ohio River and Pink Alley. The railroad said its legal department will file the necessary petition for the action.

The railroad's letter is in connection with a long - pending request to vacate some other unused sections of nearby riverfront streets and alleys, including 1st St. between Union and Jackson, and Peach Alley and Cherry Alley, both between the railroad and the river.

Four - Way Stop Suggested

The street committee was asked to investigate a request from Councilman William Y. Orr for establishment of a four - way stop at the right - angle intersection of Orchard Grove and Jennings Aves. on the North Side. The action was asked by residents of the area near the intersection, where there have been several serious traffic mishaps in the last few years, Orr said.

Directing his comment to Fire Chief Charles Bryan, who was in the audience, Orr said he has received several complaints that some fire hydrants are covered with weeds and in need of paint. The weeds around the hydrants have been cut twice this year and they've also been sprayed with a poisonous solution designed to kill them, the chief replied. Orr said he received reports that a hydrant on Elysian Way and three in Beechwood are weed - covered. He asked if the fire department has sufficient funds to paint the plugs.

The chief replied that the appropriation for fire hydrants has been exhausted. However, the last time the hydrants were painted, the work was done by the street department, he added. There the discussion ended.

Dump Operation Is Praised

Councilman W. E. Kaiser commented that he feels the center line at the top of the St. Clair Ave. grade should be solid, not broken, as it was marked out recently by the street department. The broken line might encourage a stranger to attempt to pass on the approach to the hillcrest, he said.

Kaiser also commended the administration and Incinerator Supt. James A. McKinnon "for the businesslike way in which the new landfill dump is operating" in Bloomfield. He said he inspected the operation Monday and found it "very efficient." The ground is "a valuable asset to the city because it lends itself so well to future use as a park," Kaiser added.

Webber told Bryan he understands the water department is taking steps to improve water pressure at the top of the Florence St. grade and asked the chief to check on the outcome. The pressure is being improved by repairing a regulator valve, he said. During several fires in the area in the past, the fire department complained that water pressure was inadequate.

Pay Respect To Dawson

Council approved a resolution of respect and regret in connection with the death Sunday of Clem Dawson, retired assistant fire chief. The motion was proposed by Councilman George E. Willshaw, who said Mr. Dawson's death "caused deep regret."

Members of Council and the administration will meet at City Hall at 7:15 to go to the Dawson Funeral Home in a body to pay respects to Mr. Dawson.

Willshaw, chairman of the finance committee, said the County Budget Commission is scheduled to act today at Lisbon on East Liverpool's proposed 1960 budget. He said Webber, a member of the finance committee, expects to accompany Auditor H. J. Gallimore to the meeting with the commission.

Kidder announced that the ordinance committee has conferred with the solicitor on preparation of legislation to regular confinement of wild animals in the city.

He said he acted because of the fact a visitor from Florida brought a pet mountain lion to a home in East End a few weeks ago. The solicitor is checking with other Ohio cities to determine what regulations they have about harboring wild animals, Kidder said.

VanDyne Plans To Attend School

Safety Service Director Joseph F. Ross announced that Assistant Fire Chief Alfred VanDyne has been selected as one of 10 to attend a fire service training instructors' course at Columbus. VanDyne has said he hopes to attend the school, even if he has to pay his own expenses, the director reported.

Ross said the street department has applied "a terrific amount of red dog" to streets that proved trouble spots last winter and spring. But more of the work remains to be done, he said. The new sewer cleaning machine is continuing work on a storm line at Harvey Ave. and Putnam St., he added.

The director commended members of the police department who have volunteered to work without pay during parades and other functions to help control crowds and traffic.

"They have done a wonderful job and they deserve to be commended," he said.

Kidder asked street department work to eliminate "a very rough condition" at Florence and John Sts.

The meeting opened with invocation by Kaiser.

"Ohio Bell's new CALL director telephones save us $225 plus, a month..."

"Ours is a complete real estate operation in the industrial, commercial and residential fields—sales, leasing and property management—serving all of Franklin County. Initially, 90% of our business is done by telephone and a single call may mean thousands of dollars in business. Ohio Bell's new CALL director phones and dial intercom system have given us a more flexible and efficient communication system. And, we have not found it necessary to add people to handle the increased business. Had it not been for these new phones we would have had to move to new offices and would have had to install a switchboard. Now we can handle more calls—incoming and outgoing—faster from any of the new phone locations, without added office rental and operator expense—a real dollar savings to our business. ## State Board Hears Protestant Parents

Probe Ordered In Putnam School On Religious Persecution Charges

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The State Board of Education has ordered an investigation into charges of religious persecution at a Putnam County elementary school.

The board ordered the probe Monday after hearing from 23 Protestant parents. They complained that their children are being forced to take Roman Catholic religious instruction at a public school in Kalida. The teachers are Catholic nuns, they said.

One parent, Mrs. William Monetta, told the board: "They are teaching the Catholic religion in the public schools, and we don't want our children taught the Catholic religion."

"It is being run as a parochial school," added another parent, Mrs. Byron Sybert. "Our children are nervous wrecks and so are we."

The two women said their children, first grade pupils, were afraid not to comply with their teachers' instructions to participate in Catholic religious exercises.

They presented the board with copies of geography and history textbooks which they said presented a Catholic interpretation of the subjects.

Mrs. Monetta said there also were crucifixes and other Catholic religious objects in the school.

She explained that the 32 Protestant children attending the school were taught by lay teachers in a classroom at Kalida High School last year. But this year, she said, the pupils were transferred to St. Michael's School where the teachers are nuns.

St. Michael's was built as a parochial school. However, since 1951 it has been rented by the Kalida school board and operated as a public school. Last year Kalida had 350 elementary school children.

When the Protestant parents protested the situation to local and county school authorities, they were told that nothing could be done, Mrs. Monetta said.

State board member Wayne E. Schaffer of Bryan expressed the belief that "Catholic church educators are not aware of the situation" and would not condone it.

The state board ordered Supt. E. E. Holt and the Department of Education to conduct the inquiry into the parents' charges. Holt declined to say when the probe will start.

The board also took action to remedy a situation in the Spencer-Sharpley School District in Lucas County where 120 students are enjoying an extended summer vacation because they have no high school to attend.

Last year they went to schools in Toledo and other areas on a tuition basis. But this year the other schools wouldn't take them because of overcrowding.

The board has been reluctant in the past to authorize the establishment of a high school in the district because minimum state standards call for an enrollment of at least 240 pupils in the upper four grades.

But Monday the board relented and approved the district's plans for a high school. The district proposes to rent a building in Toledo, 14 miles away, and conduct classes there for the ninth, 10th and 11th grades.

Board member Edward C. Ames of Toledo said 78 per cent of the district's pupils are Negroes. He said previous attempts to consolidate the district with neighboring school districts were unsuccessful. The other districts didn't want to consolidate with a district whose tax valuation was so low, he said.

In other action, the board:

Accepted the resignation of one of its 23 members, James Plavey of Milan. He was elected from the 13th Congressional District, comprising Sandusky, Erie, Huron and Lorain counties. The remainder of the term, until late 1961, will be filled by an appointee of the governor.

Awarded contracts totaling $546,307 for a new school in the Columbia Local District, Lorain County.

Agreed to reimburse five Ohio universities $25,842 to train teachers for handicapped children. The universities, and the amounts they will get, are: Bowling Green, $2,300; Kent State $12,064.54; Ohio U., $2,419.50; Ohio State, $6,708; Miami, $2,350.

Merger Plan For Churches Gets Approval

A new church congregation is in the process of being formed by the merger of two Wellsville churches.

Recommendations of a 10-man planning committee to merge the First Presbyterian Church and the United Presbyterian Church were given unanimous approval at a congregational meeting following Sunday morning worship at the First church.

The United church will vote at a congregational meeting Tuesday night at 7:30.

When formed, the new church will be known as the Riverside United Presbyterian Church. The First church on Riverside Ave. will be used for worship. The United church is located on Main St. next to the Post Office.

The next move after the congregational votes will be to have the plans presented to the Steubenville Presbytery at the next meeting Sept. 22 at the Old Third Presbyterian Church in Steubenville. If approved there, the merger will become official.

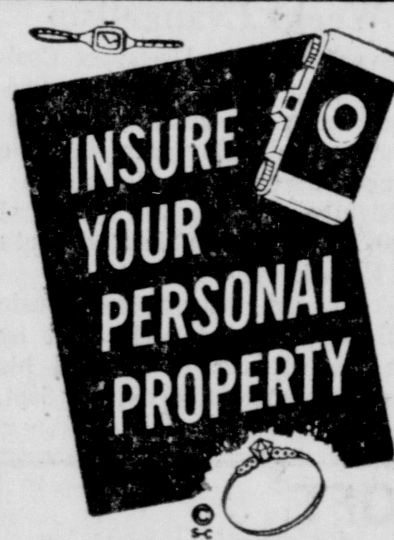

It is expected the two churches will be together as one congregation by the latter part of October. The Rev. Philip Fletcher is pastor of the First church. The United church has no pastor and has been using student pastors.

The 10-man planning committee was formed early in the summer and included three elders and two trustees from each church. Serving were Ford Ball, James Salsgiver, Alex Jenkins, Wayne Rose and Thomas Grafton, First church, and Edgar Brannon, Joe Irwin, Jesse Tarr, D. N. MacLean and Philip Fraser, United Church. Rev. Fletcher served as moderator.

3. Sending up a cluster of balloons which could be inflated after orbit to a diameter so big they could be seen with the naked eye.

Reds Cite Way To Deal With Laos Situation

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union says the only way to deal with the trouble in Laos is through an international conference, with Red China taking part.

The Soviets in an official statement issued Monday night by Tass news agency, again repudiated the U. N. fact-finding mission sent to investigate the tiny Asian kingdom's charges of aggression against the Communists.

The Soviet statement warned the West that the Security Council's action might have "far-reaching consequences for peace and security in Indochina."

The statement was timed with the arrival of the U. N. mission in Southeast Asia and Premier Nikita Khrushchev's takeoff for talks with President Eisenhower in Washington.

The Soviets demanded a conference to be "called without delay" by the countries that attended the 1954 Geneva conference which ended the French-Communist fighting in Indochina and brought independence to Laos. They were the United States, Britain, the Soviet Union, France, Red China, and the Indochinese states of South Viet Nam, Laos, Cambodia and Communist North Viet Nam.

The first U. S. reaction to the Soviet proposal was cool. A source close to the situation said: "Apparently the Soviet leaders are not willing to let the U. N. fact-finders have a chance to make their report."

Water Main Contract Let

A contract to supply 846 feet of water pipe to complete relocation of a 12-inch main on the Pennsylvania Ave. "Hill Rd." was awarded Monday afternoon to a Chicago firm.

The Board of Public Utilities, which administers operation of the water department, gave the contract to James B. Clow & Sons, Inc., after opening two bids.

Clow's total bid for the pipe and two 45-degree ells totaled $4,313.81, shipped by truck, while the United States Pipe & Foundry Co. of Pittsburgh asked $4,313.60.

The board specified truck shipment, pointing out it would be delivered to the storage building while the department would have to unload and transport the supplies if received by rail.

Clow submitted a net bid of $4.98¢ for truck shipment of the pipe and $4.89 per foot for rail shipment. It also asked $48.25 each for the ells shipped by truck and $47.93 shipped by rail. It specified delivery in three weeks.

The Pittsburgh concern asked $5 a foot for truck shipment and $4.90¢ per foot for rail, and $41.80 each for truck shipment of the ells and $41.35 for rail. It promised delivery in 10 days.

The department will use the pipe to replace a main abandoned when the "Hill Rd." was resurfaced last month.

The line was cut in the area where frequent slips have occurred and the new pipe will be placed in a trench on the hillside above the roadway.

How understanding others can help you understand yourself!

Today, 1 out of every 10 Americans has a serious mental problem. You probably come in contact with at least one such person every day—a friend, someone you work with, perhaps even a member of your own family.

This person desperately needs something that you, and you alone, can give—your understanding. Here's how you can give it.

First, you should know these facts. Serious mental problems are quite widespread today. They are not rare. And they are not hopeless! In most cases, they respond well to modern medical treatment. Second, you should show the person with such a problem that you know these facts—show it in the considerate yet natural way you act towards him.

As you do this—as you give your understanding to those with serious problems—learn to understand yourself, too! Learn how to keep your own emotional tensions from making life unhappy for you—and for those around you.

New Deadline Fixed On Data For Soil Bank

LISBON — The Department of Agriculture has announced a new deadline of Sept. 30 for farmers to apply for establishment of basic annual rates per acre for conservation reserve contracts.

Previously, the final date for applications was Sept. 10. An application for the establishment of a basic annual rate is the first step taken by a farmer to offer land for the 1960 conservation reserve of the soil bank, according to Earl Lora, office manager of the Agriculture, Stabilization and Conservation Office.

The extension to Sept. 30 will allow farmers time to make applications for rates after there has been necessary clarification of provisions governing the establishment of land values in determining rates.

The agricultural appropriations act for 1960 provides that "in establishing annual rental rates for new contracts, no such rental rate shall be established in excess of the local fair rental value of the acreage offered, such fair rental value to be based upon the average annual crop production harvested from such acreage during the past five crop years including the current year."

Problems have developed in applying the "fair rental value" provision, which is effective for the first time for the 1960 program. This is especially true in the Great Plains and other areas where crop production has been abnormally low in one or more years of the 5-year period, as a result of drought or other natural disaster.

Pending legislation, if approved, would change the land value provisions and administrative and legal review is being made of methods used in establishing local rental values. When these steps are completed, clarifying instructions will be sent from Washington.

Rate applications already filed by farmers will be held for action after the clarifying instructions are available, Lora said.

Applications for contract, the second step taken by farmers to offer land for the 1960 conservation reserve, will not be accepted until further notice. Filing of applications for contracts was scheduled to begin on Sept. 14.

Shippingport Indian Bones Removal Told

The process of uncovering an Indian skeleton was outlined by Vincent R. Mrozowski, a research associate at Carnegie Museum in Pittsburgh, in his talk on "An Unusual Burial at Shippingport" at a meeting of the Aboriginal Explorers Club Monday night at Ft. Tiscarawas Museum near Lisbon.

Mrozowski, who also is secretary-treasurer of the Society for Pennsylvania Archaeology, screened films to illustrate his talk. He said that he visited the burial site in 1950. It is located near the atomic power plant.

Mrozowski said he was surface collecting when he found the left foot of an Indian exposed. When he returned to start excavation, the left foot and parts of the right one were missing. The skeleton was that of a woman who was pregnant at time of death. Four triangular point - type of arrowheads were found inside the rib cage, indicating she had met a violent death.

Tests at the Carnegie Museum revealed the woman was about 20 to 25 years old and that the fetus was about 6 months old. Shell-tempered pottery was used in dating the burial as Late Prehistoric from 1600-900 A.D.

Tom Pike, owner of the museum, outlined his facilities and discussed Indian trails in the area. The next meeting will be Sept. 28 with Harry R. Cline of Wellsville.

Rate Increase Stalemated In Council Vote

LISBON — A proposed 7.1 per cent Ohio Edison Co. rate increase for village residential consumers reached a stalemate in Council Monday night.

Councilmen Richard Bloor and John Blockson opposed the increase, while Councilmen Robert Kelm, E. G. Heilbrunner and Dean Stockman supported it. The measure required a two-thirds vote.

The utility's next move has not been announced, but it could appeal the action to the PUOC at Columbus in seeking a rate boost.

Council took under study a request from nine village truckers for modification of the laws regarding use of community streets by trucks.

The law prohibits the use of village streets by trucks other than those making deliveries. Atty. John Beck, representing the truckers, suggested the operators be permitted to use some streets if the trucks are unloaded or en route to garages for repair.

The truckers suggested an ordinance be prepared for Council to study at the next meeting, easing the restrictions so that no trucking firm would have to leave the village.

Council authorized transfer of $425 from the general fund to the village swimming pool fund. The pool took in $4,766 during the summer season, and spent the same amount. With earlier expenditures by Council, the pool's cost for the year was $750.

The street department was authorized to raise gutters along Pritchard Ave. to enable W. A. Peters to install sidewalks. Repairs were also discussed for the street in front of the home of Corney Pennell of North Ave.

Councilman Bloor suggested the back of street school signs be repainted for better visibility in fog.

No action was taken on returning the village to Eastern Standard Time Sept. 27. At present, the community is to remain on "fast" time through October. The schools will return to "slow" time this month.

She carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations and stephanotis. All the familiar traditions were observed.

Miss Natilie Dutille of Washington, D. C., was maid of honor and Miss Dolores M. Smith of Pittsburgh bridesmaid. Miss Dutille's blue chiffon ballerina length gown was worn over taffeta and she carried a cascade arrangement of blue carnations. The practice of pharmacy has changed greatly within the past ten years. More than 70% of the medicines now prescribed were unknown before then. In order to keep up with this amazing progress we must be continuously studying medical and pharmacy reports. We must learn the dosage and properties of all new drugs.

We have to discard the old medicines no longer being prescribed and order in every new medicine a physician may specify. All this requires constant thought and we are glad to report that we can fill any prescription, written by any Doctor, even one from another city.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: We're moving to a new community again, for the sixth time in 15 years — same reason. My husband borrows money from everyone he knows and gets so deeply in debt I can't look anyone in the eye. Then we have to move because our credit is shot and no one will have anything to do with us.

To make matters worse, he lies to me, never tells me who he's borrowed from, won't keep a record of anything, puts his name on all sorts of notes and contracts from loan companies and the next thing I know the house is surrounded by collectors.

I've worked at two jobs ever since we got married. I've gone to my friends and relatives to cover his checks and keep him out of jail. He's cried his eyes out and made a thousand promises but they don't mean a thing.

What can I do with a guy like this?—FINANCIAL WRECK.

Dear Financial: Your husband is sick, sick, sick and you'll be sick, too, unless he gets himself straightened around by a specialist. If he refuses to let him "goodbye and good luck."

Suggest that he get professional help. You've pulled his fat out of the fire so many times he's sure you'll always come through. Perhaps if he finds himself faced with the choice of playing it straight or living along, he'll fly right.

Hubby's Decision

Dear Ann: We've been married 25 years and are a devoted couple. My husband is an officer in a large company. His private secretary is efficient, loyal and earns a fine salary. She knows the business from A to Z.

My husband is going to another company where he will hold a similar position. He'd like to take his secretary with him.

I trust my husband implicitly but I'd prefer that he hire another secretary. My reason: Why give people a choice morsel to gossip about? He says I worry too much about what people think.

The woman is unmarried and has had lunch with my husband when others have been present—never alone. I'm not the jealous or suspicious type so rule that out. Please advise.—D.S.

Dear D.S.: If you're (1) a devoted couple, (2) you trust your husband implicitly and (3) you're not the jealous or suspicious type, you shouldn't be concerned about the wagging tongues. Tongues have wagged since the beginning of time both with and without provocation.

When you ask your husband not to take the secretary he considers it a vote of no confidence. Since he feels this woman is valuable to him, encourage it. A smart wife never gets into a battle she can't afford to lose. This is one of those battles.

Porch Chair

Dear Ann: We are two girls with the same problem. We are sweet (?) 16, not beauty queens but we're certainly not ugly. We know how to dance, carry on a decent conversation and boys like our company — but not for a REAL date.

When they want a free evening, they come over and sit on our front porch or listen to records and suggest we raid the icebox.

When there's a dance or party, they ask someone else. What's your advice?—THE DRAGS.

Dear Drags: Remove the porch furniture and tell them you're not available for "drop-ins." Put a premium on your company and they will, too.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

New Zoning Group Planned For St. Clair Twp. Region

St. Clair Township trustees Monday night agreed to appoint a new zoning commission following a request from representatives of the Calcutta Area Development Association.

Dean Wilhelm, president of the association, asked the trustees to name a commission to direct a proposed zoning program for the township. A commission held office in 1957-58, but resigned when a proposed seven-tenths of a mill levy for funds to implement the start of zoning was defeated in a general election.

The trustees indicated they plan to name the commission in the near future, after studying opinions of other township residents.

Discussion was held on the police protection for the township after the present constable fee system ends Nov. 6. The township has appointed police constables to Jan. 1, pending clarification of the new law regarding township law officers.

Dr. Arthur Cloran urged the trustees to request the county commissioners to obtain a PUCO check of heavy truck traffic on the Calcutta-Cannons Mills Rd.

Grafton Barrett of Lowers Addition requested 10 loads of red dog for which residents will pay. The township will haul and spread the material.

Patching of road breaks was authorized for Fredericktown, Bloomfield, Thompson Rd. and the Cannons Mills—Wellsville Rd.

Duck Blinds Available

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Seventh Magee Marsh duck blinds are available to Ohio hunters, the Division of Wildlife has announced. Applications for the openings, which should include a $10 check and stamped self-addressed envelope, will be received by the division until midnight Sunday, Sept. 20.

Congress

ing for an early July adjournment, in advance of the Democratic national convention meeting July 11 in Los Angeles.

The head-over list includes civil rights, a general farm bill, aid to education, minimum wage legislation, aid for depressed areas, broadening of social security, and perhaps general tax revision.

On several important issues, the Democratic leadership got legislation passed this year, but reduced far below expectations at the start of the session.

In this category were housing, highways, and aid for airport construction.

The spending issue dominated much of the session, with President Eisenhower getting far more mileage out of this than many Democrats had believed possible eight months ago. The complete recovery from the 1957-58 economic recession aided the administration in this fight.

To meet the spending charge, Democrats claimed they had cut the President's appropriations requests by $1,881,000,000. But, even so, the total of $81,975,368,352 voted in the session was a record for any peacetime year, and fell below only two World War II and two Korean War years. Republicans said indirect appropriations would add still more.

Probably the most dramatic debates this year in both branches swirled around the labor regulation bill. The measure which resulted was a big victory for Eisenhower.

Congress finally passed a broad measure regulating unions' internal affairs on such matters as finances, elections and trusteeships and members' rights, and changing the Taft-Hartley law to limit unions' boycott and organizational picketing activities.

The President did not fare so well on some of his major requests.

The Democrats turned down his plea for a removal of the 4½ percent interest rate ceiling on long term bonds, and ignored his request for legislation to try to cut down on the mounting farm surpluses.

The President asked for a 1½ cent a gallon increase in the gasoline tax to keep the national superhighway program going and meet a deficit in the highway trust fund.

The Democrats at first rejected any gas tax hike but finally reluctantly put through a temporary 1 cent boost. Even with this there will be a slowdown in the program.

On housing, the Democrats had to settle for a one-billion-dollar bill carrying authorizations which were only about one-third of their original proposals. Eisenhower twice vetoed slightly larger housing measures, and the Senate Democrats both times failed in efforts to override.

On civil rights, the only action was the extension of the Civil Rights Commission.

But advocates of a broad bill did gain a promise that there would be a floor consideration in the Senate next February.

Religious Census Set At Wellsville

The Wellsville Ministerial Association Monday voted to conduct a religious census in the community.

The Rev. Clark Allison of the First Church of the Nazarene and the Rev. Arden Beck of the First Methodist Church were named to head the project. A door-to-door canvass will be made. Further details will be outlined at the next meeting Oct. 5.

The ministers breakfasted in the morning at McGeehan's Restaurant and conducted the business session at the Central Federal Savings & Loan Association.

The Rev. Richard Beidler of the Yellow Creek Presbyterian Church, president, conducted devotions. The Rev. Joseph Varner of the Bethel Presbyterian Church near Highlandtown was welcomed as a new member.

The group voted to meet the first Monday of each month instead of the second Monday. The Thanksgiving Day service will be held Thursday, Nov. 26, at 10 a. m. in the First Presbyterian Church.

Ed Pugh will be guest speaker at the next meeting.

Ohio Gives Report On Tax Receipts

The sale of prepaid tax receipts in Columbiana County for the week ending Aug. 29 reached an adjusted total of $45,718, according to a report from State Treasurer Joseph T. Ferguson's office.

The figure includes $34,735 in sales tax collections and an additional $10,982 in sales tax on motor vehicle sales, now recorded separately.

In a corresponding week in 1958, when only an aggregate total was kept on collections, sales reached $37,229, the report showed.

The new report brings the total collected in the county on motor vehicle sales to $99,683 to add to the $195,484 in other collections for a grand total of $295,167 since July 1. In the period from July 1 to Aug. 30, 1958, the total collections were $255,261.

the stretch with the co-operation of abutting property owners. But the city and the property owners could not agree on the amount each should pay. A few years ago, the stretch was seal-coated in an effort to cut down on weather damage.

The appropriation for the St. Clair Ave. work brought a suggestion from Councilman Samuel B. Webber of the Fourth Ward that Council consider an expenditure for improvement of Shady Side Ave., which he called "the Fourth Ward's 'St. Clair Ave.'"

"We have had numerous requests for improvement of Shady Side," he said. "I'd like to request the street committee for temporary help for that street through the winter."

The same appropriation measure provided $1,700 for expenses of other municipal departments. It includes $200 for the cost of legal advertising, $800 for fuel and light in the fire department and $200 for the expenses of two firemen attending a State Arson School at Columbus.

The ordinance also provided $500 for the expense of operating the city's new landfill dump in Bloomfield and $200 for the expenses of Richard Freuler of Hamilton, who was hired by the Health Department as an expert witness in a Common Pleas Court trial involving McAllister Dairy Farms, Inc., of Warren.

Freuler's statement called for 1,200 miles' travel in his private car at 10 cents a mile, plus four days in court at $20 a day.

Councilman A. Stanley Kidder pointed out that the city pays only 8 cents a mile to its employees who use their private cars on public business. If Freuler is paid 10 cents a mile, the city employees should get the same, he said.

If a general ordinance puts a limitation of 8 cents on mileage, Freuler cannot be paid more, even though the amount was appropriated, Councilman Robert W. Sample Jr. replied.

Flying Ace Of World War II

Actor Wayne Morris, 45, Claimed By Heart Attack

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actor Wayne Morris, 45, Navy flying ace in World War II, is dead of a heart attack suffered on the bridge of an aircraft carrier at sea.

He was watching air maneuvers from the USS Bonhomme Richard off Monterey, Calif., when he collapsed Monday. Morris was aboard as guest of the skipper, Capt. David S. MacCampbell of Los Angeles. MacCampbell, his uncle, led Morris' wartime squadron, famed fighting Squadron 15.

Morris, whose death was announced here by an old friend, publicist Bill Watters, was the fifth show-business luminary to die in nine days. The others were actors Edmund Gwenn and Paul Douglas, actress Kay Kendall and Hollywood dress designer Gilbert Adrian, husband of Janet Gaynor.

The 200-pound, 6-foot-2 actor was born Bert De Wayne Morris in Los Angeles. He had been a star football player at Los Angeles City College when a Warner Bros. talent scout discovered him at the Pasadena Playhouse.

He enlisted in the Navy in 1941 and joined Squadron 15 aboard the carrier Essex in the Pacific. Morris flew 57 missions and took part in raids on Marcus, Wake, two Jima, Okinawa and other targets.

He earned his rating as an ace by shooting down seven Japanese planes. He also was credited with sinking a Japanese gunboat and two enemy destroyers and helping destroy a submarine. Three F6F Hellcats he flew back to his carrier were so bullet-riddled they had to be jettisoned.

Morris won four Distinguished Flying Crosses and two Air Medals. He was discharged after the war as a lieutenant commander. He remained in the Naval Reserve and toured bases and veterans' hospitals as an entertainer.

His career as a handsome screen hero failed to flourish after the war and he slipped into B pictures. Three years ago he switched to character parts and found new demand for his talents, mostly in television.

One Decision He Will Never Regret!

There's a new lilt to his spirit today—and his heart is singing a song it hasn't recalled in a good many years.

For today he took title to his first Cadillac—and already he knows that this is one decision he will never regret.

You see, so many of the satisfactions of Cadillac ownership make themselves known to a man the instant he takes the wheel—the car's marvelous comfort and luxury, for instance . . . its feeling of quality and substance . . . its wondrous silence and effortless handling . . . and that abiding sense of pride and fulfillment.

And, accompanying these, there is, of course, the car's great practicality. The original investment was more modest than he had anticipated—surprisingly close, in fact, to the cost of the medium-priced car he had previously owned.

What a revelation the facts about Cadillac value were—and how reassuring the story of Cadillac's remarkable resale characteristics! And, of course, he knows that the car's great operating economy and dependability will ride with him through every joyous mile.

In fact, if he has any regret at all, it is that he waited so long to discover how practical a Cadillac can be.

Is there a Cadillac at the end of your private rainbow? Well, then, you owe it to yourself to get the facts first-hand. Your dealer will be delighted to do the honors.

Out Of The Air

By MARIE TORRE

The Competition Gets Tougher

As Garry Moore said about television the other day, "The business isn't easy any more!" The observation was made after the little man with the crew cut and how times noted the roster of personalities with whom he'll vie for audience attention next season. It's a wonder he only winced. Jumping out of the nearest window would have been a more logical reaction, for how can you fight block busters twice a week over a period of 39 consecutive weeks and still hope to retain the high rating status that's so essential to employment in the prime evening hours?

WHAT AWAITS Moore on TV shouldn't happen to Lasse.

On his opening night, which is Sept. 29, Moore will be competing for honors with a formidable opponent named Bing Crosby on ABC.

The second Moore show (Oct. 6) will encounter an even worse fate, the first of the big weekly specials with a million-dollar cast (Rosalind Russell, Maurice Chevalier, Jack Paar, Polly Bergen, Kate Smith, etc.).

On the following Wednesday (Oct. 7) Moore's "I've Got a Secret" will do rating battle with the premiere of the "Perry Como Show." And from then on, week after week, it'll be Moore vs. the big special Tuesday nights, and Moore vs. Como Wednesday nights, representing a squeeze play of sorts.

MAYBE MOORE'S an incurable optimist, but he manages to bandy such phrases as "great challenge," "healthy competition" and "exciting season" when he speaks of the conditions that attend his return. "Trepidation? I'd be a fool if I didn't feel some trepidation," he allowed. "I think Bing Crosby will clobber us. And I suspect that Como will knock 'Secret' out of the Top Ten."

"But sooner or later there'll be a settling-down period, and that's where I'm hopeful."

"I think we learned from 'Seven Lively Arts' that you can't do a jazz show one week, a ballet show the next week and expect to maintain a loyal following."

"In the long run I think audiences have a tendency to stay with the weekly performer, if his batting average is high. That's the theory I'm counting on, anyway. "Of course there'll be a fluctuation in ratings, depending on who's on the special show. Should they bring on Marilyn Monroe one Tuesday night I'll be lucky if the people in my office watch me."

MOORE'S CONFIDENCE is admirable. While he concedes there is no such thing as an "easy spot" in television today, he regards stiff competition as an avenue to better TV.

"It's really a good thing," he remarked. "It keeps a fellow on his toes. You've no idea how careful and particular we've been these weeks in preparing our material. We examine more, analyze more. It can only lead to better television."

"Or," Moore added with painful honesty, "to unemployment. You know all summer I've been thinking of the year's sabbatical he's on. Next year might be my year off and I don't mean by volition."

ARTHUR GODFREY, making an unprecedented TV appearance on a network other than CBS, will perform as host of the salute to the Eleanor Roosevelt Cancer Research Institute on NBC Oct. 25.

Mel Allen's baseball sportscast Sunday was his 3,000th.

Something new in television shows will be launched in England this month — a striptease "serial" called "After Hours." The show is scheduled to run 13 weeks, with Heide Erich, a stripper from Hamburg, taking off a piece of clothing each week, interspersed with jokes. In the finale, Miss Erich will appear in a brief bikini.

Ingrid Bergman alighted in New York Saturday to prepare for her dramatic TV debut in "The Turn of the Screw," an Oct. 20 special show on NBC.

The projected shows with "Johnny" in the title ("Johnny Staccato," "Johnny Yuma," "Johnny Midnight") prompt a TV observer to propose a weekly private eye series called "Johnny Panic," who goes to pieces every week!

DiSalle Asks For Ruling On Special Vote

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. Michael V. DiSalle is sounding these days like a man who won't call a special election to fill the vacant congressional seat in the Sixth Ohio District unless he is forced to.

DiSalle told newsmen Monday he has asked Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy for a formal ruling on whether the governor must call the special election and, if so, whether there is any time element involved.

The election would be to fill the vacancy caused by the death last spring of Rep. James G. Polk, a Democrat. The district covers counties in south-central Ohio.

DiSalle earlier had asked Secretary of State Ted W. Brown for an estimate on the cost of a special primary election 15 days ahead of the Nov. 3 election this year. The estimate was $63,000.

The governor, discussing the matter with newsmen, observed that the special primary plus a successor's salary would run the cost up to about $100,000.

I don't know whether it's worth that much to the taxpayers to have one more congressman for a year," he added. "If the division in the U. S. House were close, that would be another matter, but the Democrats have an edge of about 40."

"Besides," DiSalle pointed out, "There doesn't seem to be any great clamor for an election from either Republicans or Democrats."

In response to a question, DiSalle conceded there is a possibility he might call a special election at the time of the regular election in November 1960. That would give the district representation for about the last two months of Polk's unexpired term.

75 Visitors Attend Meeting Of Local Barbershop Unit

About 75 guests from communities in many parts of Area 11 of the Johnny Appleseed District were guests of the East Liverpool barbershop-style singing group at a meeting Monday night in the DAV Hall.

The largest delegations were from Cambridge, Cadiz, Toronto and Steubenville. The Johnny Appleseed District, which includes East Liverpool and Area 11, was represented by Pat Voyce, district vice president, and Elmer Winter, district treasurer, both of Pittsburgh, and Milton Stewart of Cadiz, past district vice president and a former local resident. Also present was Robert Hoyt, Area 11 counselor.

Bill Brooks, president of the local chapter, led group singing. Numbers were presented by three quartets — the Gem City Four of Toronto and the Colonials and the Note Nuts of East Liverpool.

Bob Blatchford was in charge of the program. Coffee and doughnuts were served by the social committee, including Gerald Jividen, chairman, Charles Hartenbach and Ray Thorn.

Missing Plane Hoax Now Believed Hoax

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A West Coast air search for a missing four-engine plane ended Monday with authorities convinced they'd been victimized by a hoax.

On Sunday a man identifying himself as Paul Parron of the British Embassy in Washington, D.C., called the Los Angeles airport tower and filed a verbal flight plan to Seattle in a four-engine Havilland Heron.

Although he never notified the tower he took off, air officials had to assume he was missing when he never reported in by radio. Air search units scoured California, Oregon and Washington for hours before the British Embassy said it knew of no Paul Parron and that its one Havilland Heron was sitting at Andrews Air Force Base in nearby Maryland.

Indictment Sought On Conspiracy Charge

UNIONTOWN, Pa. (AP) — The September term of the Fayette County grand jury will be asked to indict Dist. Atty. Joseph Kovach and three others on charges of conspiracy to set up a lottery.

Warrants were served last week on Kovach, his former chief of county detectives, James Eadie of Brownsville, Albert Pauline and Stanley Trassatti, both of Bentleyville.

Alderman William F. Whitby of Uniontown ruled Monday that there was sufficient evidence to hold the four men for grand jury action.

The charges were filed by State Police Sgt. W. J. Stanton. He said he began investigating the case last December as the result of testimony given at a federal court hearing for Pauline.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY MEYERS

Don't Be A Partner To Child's Lie

The public schools have truancy officers sometimes called attendance officers or visiting teachers, whose major purpose is to enforce regular school attendance.

The truant child can easily get into trouble, especially when his parents don't know where he's playing hooky. It's in the upper grades and by Garry Meyers junior high schools where truancy is most frequent, and it may occur long and often before the parents or the school discover it. Sometimes the school officer does not keep a careful check on absences or fails to check on them with their parents. Often, too, students serve as clerks and may readily accept the child's excuse.

AS A RULE, the child absent from school today must bring a written excuse from his parents tomorrow morning. The busy parent at the school desk may merely accept and file the excuse, not knowing or caring who signed it. Many a youngster can tell you how easy it is for him to write an excuse himself and sign a parent's name to it, or to have a domestic helper do so for him.

As a precaution against such forgery, the school officer might well have on file both parents' signatures so the clerk could check against them the signature on any child's excuse. Even the first of fence, forging of a parent's name on an excuse, should be dealt with as a very serious matter by the school and home.

It seems that this kind of forgery is greatly on the increase by children from so-called good homes in suburban and other high-economic areas.

A more serious problem is when a parent will perjure an excuse for a child.

FOR EXAMPLE, a youth, 14, slips off from school this afternoon for an adventure with one or more schoolmates. Their respective fathers or mothers knowing of the truancy may, next morning, sign for each youngster an excuse saying he was sick.

A certain high school girl once told me that many of her classmates do this and have no trouble getting excuses from their parents.

But she also confided in me that when she broached her parents beforehand to get them to promise to perjure such an excuse for a downtown outing she had deliberately planned with two other girls, her parents refused and she didn't carry through her plans.

Any parent who will deliberately perjure an excuse for a youngster following his or her truancy is a partner to juvenile delinquency and an enemy of good school discipline.

If you or I did so, how could we regain the faith and confidence of our child?

This should be a good subject for an audience discussion at a PTA meeting. But as so many of the most looked-up-to parents would, for obvious reasons, object to such discussion, you and I can hardly ever hope to hear one of them.

2 Motorists Fined; Court Dismisses 3rd

Two motorists were fined a total of $15 and costs by Mayor Burton Ward of Chester Monday while a third was cleared of a registration charge.

John A. Stepien of Grant St., Newell, was fined $10 and costs for improper registration, and William Garvey of Fairview St., East Liverpool, was fined $5 and costs for failure to halt for a stop sign.

A charge of improper registration against Lewis L. Morrison was dismissed when he produced registration in the state of Ohio and gave his address as Center Alley, East Liverpool. He had been cited for driving with an Ohio plate and being a resident of Chester.

A charge of lack of a Chester city driver's license was also dismissed for Morrison.

5 Indictments Are Returned In Tax Evasion Case

NEWARK, Ohio (AP) — The Licking County grand jury Monday returned five indictments against Emerson R. Miller for alleged evasion and misrepresentation of tax returns on his stocks and bonds income, a spokesman from the attorney general's office said.

This is the first case to be tried in a precedent-setting drive against state tax evasion.

Miller, a prominent citizen of Newark, is charged with omitting altogether some stocks on his returns, falsifying dividends on others and falsifying his number of shares for the years 1953 thru 1957, the spokesman said.

If convicted Miller would face a maximum five-year jail term or maximum $10,000 fine, or both, for each count.

This is the first time in the 30-year life of the tax law that the state has prosecuted for fraud. The state is entitled to five per cent of dividend yield, or, if there are no dividends on a stock, to two mills on the dollar figured from the stock's face value.

Joseph D. Karam, chief of the tax department of the attorney general's office, said that "the Miller case is the first of literally thousands of such cases that we are going to go into."

PC Considers Request For 8% Gas Rate Hike

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Power Commission is considering a request by the Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line Co., Kansas City, for a $8,653,700, or 8 per cent, yearly increase in the wholesale natural gas rate.

The increase would affect 61 utilities customers in Ohio, Kansas, Missouri, Indiana, Illinois and Michigan. The company wants to make it effective Oct. 26.

Ex-Publisher Dies

CHICAGO (AP)—John R. Palandech, 85, former publisher of three foreign language newspapers circulating in the United States, died Monday.

Ex-Bookkeeper Says Ex-County Treasurer Lied

BATAVIA, Ohio (AP)—A former bookkeeper says she knew John P. Friend Jr., former county treasurer, was lying when he twice certified to a state examiner that his tax collections were all reported.

Helen Rapp of Owensville, who worked on the books in the treasurer's office until Friend resigned last spring, was a major prosecution witness Monday.

She was still on the stand at end of the first day of trial for Friend on charges he embezzled a total of $47,592 between August 1958 and January 1959.

In opening statements, defense attorney Russell Speidel asserted Friend "has not embezzled one cent."

Ralph A. Hill, Clermont County prosecutor, contended Friend has admitted delaying tax reports up to several months.

The indictment is one of three returned against Friend after a state auditor's report indicated a shortage in county accounts. The report also said Friend used unreported tax money to cover shortages.

Friend, known in the county for charitable and civic work, had been treasurer since 1937 and worked in the treasurer's office since early depression days.

A hamburger fry will be held at a meeting of the Ladies Civic Club tonight at the shelter house of the High St. athletic field. Members will take a cup and table service, Mrs. Charles Mundy, president, said.

The committee in charge includes Mrs. Bea Hazlett, Mrs. Blanch Baker, Mrs. Mable O'Donnell, Mrs. Beulah Downard, Mrs. Margaret Maher and Mrs. Mundy.

Braves Stop Dodgers, 4-1; Reds Stun Loop Leading Giants

Milwaukee One Game Out Of First Place

By JOE REICHLER Associated Press Sports Writer

Remember three years ago when the Braves were accused of choking up after they had blown a four-game lead to the Dodgers in the final three weeks?

Well, things have a way of reversing themselves.

A vital 4-1 victory over the Dodgers Monday night not only boosted the Braves into undisputed possession of second place, one game behind the league-leading San Francisco Giants, but gave them their eighth victory in the last nine games.

During the same period, both the Giants and Dodgers, now in third place, two games off the pace, have played barely over .500 ball, winning five while losing four.

Cincinnati's Reds inflicted a stunning 4-1 defeat upon the Giants in the only other league game played.

In the American League, Cleveland narrowed Chicago's first place lead to 4½ games, defeating New York 8-5 while Boston was beating the White Sox 9-3. Washington shut out Detroit 5-0 and Baltimore walloped Kansas City 9-4.

Each of the top three contenders have 11 games remaining. The Braves will have a golden opportunity this weekend when they meet the last place Phillies while the Giants and Dodgers are battling each other.

It took a tremendous pitching performance by Don McMahon to preserve Milwaukee's victory. Bob Buhl, a long-time Dodger nemesis, appeared about to cement his 13th victory, fifth against Los Angeles this season, as he entered the last of the ninth, leading 4-1. He had allowed the Dodgers only one hit—a home run by Wally Moon. Then, just like that, the Dodgers loaded the bases with nobody out on a walk and two infield singles.

That was the signal for manager Fred Haney to summon McMahon from the bullpen. The big strong right-hander was superb. He retired Norm Larker on a soft liner to second baseman Felix Mantilla, then threw three strikes past Gil Hodges and Johnny Roseboro. The Coliseum crowd of 53,767 could hardly believe it. Jim Brosnan, a last minute pitching choice, and Dutch Dotterer, an early inning substitute catcher, combined to give the Reds their 4-1 victory over the Giants. Brosnan, usually a reliever, started only because Jim O'Toole, who was scheduled to pitch, turned up ailing. He gave up only five hits and a run in seven innings.

Dotterer, who entered the game in the second when starter Ed Bailey was tossed out for arguing over a decision, drove in two runs with a pair of singles. Johnny Temple drove in the first run with a home run and Whitey Lockman batted in the last one with a double. Willie Mays, with his 30th homer, accounted for the lone Giant run.

'Prize Catch' For Two East Liverpool Men

Two East Liverpool sportsmen have a fishing story to tell that is true.

William Jennings of 1101 Avondale and William Bolton of 1110 St. Clair Ave., pulled in a 17-pound carp that measured 30-inches from Guilford Lake last week.

It was one of the largest carp ever caught at Guilford Lake. The two men were fishing near Winery's Landing.

Julius Boros Wins Dallas Golf Tourney

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Julius Boros, who won his eighth tournament in 10 years of campaigning when he bagged the $25,000 Dallas Open, is on the way to Fort Lauderdale, Fla., for a little fishing to break the monotony of the golf tour.

Some say Big Julius is about to wind up his career.

His record shows that he's toughest when the stakes are high. He has won $186,322.09, and $101,000 of it came in first place money.

Boros took top money for the second time in Dallas Monday when he won the Dallas Open by a stroke. His previous triumph here was one of the big ones he has grabbed, the National Open in 1952.

The Hungarian from Mid Pines, N.C., had a par 70 to take the Dallas Open title. It gave him 274 for 72 holes and a stroke margin over host pro Earl Stewart, Dow Finsterwald of Tequesta, Fla., and Bo Winger of Oaessa, Tex. Finishing fifth was Jon Gustin, the freshman on the tour from Gladwyne, Pa., who was tied with Boros starting the final round.

Tribe Rebounds With 8-5 Victory; Boston Surprises White Sox, 9-3

By JOE REICHLER Associated Press Sports Writer

Strange how one victory can make a man adjust his point of view.

Sunday after his Cleveland Indians had been beaten twice in Yankee Stadium and Chicago had won to boost its first-place margin to 5½ games, manager Joe Gordon greeted reporters: "Come in and join the wake."

Monday after his Indians had knocked off the Yankees 8-5 while Boston was upending the White Sox 9-3, the same man said: "I'm not ready to concede. We've still got a chance."

The chance is slim, but it's there. Take a look.

Chicago has nine games left to play to Cleveland's 10. If the White Sox win six, it's all over, even if the Indians win all theirs. In other words, any combination of six will lift the White Sox to their first pennant in 40 years.

But here's the rub. All of Chicago's nine remaining games are against first division clubs — two against New York, six against Detroit and one against Cleveland. On the other hand, only one of the Indians' remaining 10 games are against a first division club. The Indians have seven against Kansas City and two against Boston.

In other American League games Washington blanked Detroit 5-0 and Baltimore whipped Kansas City 9-4.

In the National League, Milwaukee closed to within a game of first-place San Francisco, defeating Los Angeles 4-1 while Cincinnati was defeating the Giants by the same score.

Dick Donovan, seeking for the third time to post his 10th victory, carried a 2-0 lead into the sixth when the roof caved in. Before the Red Sox were through, 12 batters had gone to the plate and collected four hits, five walks and six runs off four Chicago pitchers.

Frank Malzone hit a two-run single, Ted Williams singled in a run as a pinch hitter and Gene Stephens also singled in a run. That was enough for Bill Monbouquette to register his seventh victory in a route-going job.

Cal McLish beat the Yankees for the sixth time this season. The big right-hander had a shut-out until the ninth when the Yankees pounded five runs across. It was too late by then because McLish himself had driven in three Cleveland runs with a triple and single, and rookie Ray Webster had knocked in three mates with a double and two singles.

Jim Lemon, on a hot streak, cracked his 32nd home run for Washington, four in the last five games, as Truman Clevenger, normally a relief pitcher, stopped the Tigers with four hits.

Bob Nieman walloped a three-run homer as Baltimore ruined rookie Al Grunwald's starting debut for Kansas City. Hector Brown notched his 10th success.

Nicklaus Tops Jones In U.S. Amateur Play

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — A 190-pound 18-year-old Ohio State University junior built like an All-America football player is making his presence felt in the 59th U. S. Amateur Golf tournament.

Jack Nicklaus of Columbus, Ohio, a pharmacy student, passed his initial test by taking out Robert Tyre Jones III, of Pittsfield, Mass., son of the immortal golf star Bobby Jones, 7 and 6, Monday.

Nicklaus played the mile-high, 7,010-yard par 36-35-71 Broadmoor course in two strokes under regulation figures. He missed but one of the 12 greens and was trapped only once.

Nicklaus has been one of the better amateur players this year. He won the North-South Amateur tournament and the Trans-Mississippi and reached the quarter-final round of the British Amateur. He was low amateur in three of the five open tournaments he has played.

Defending champion Charlie Coe of Oklahoma City came through in stride as did most of the more highly regarded players. Coe beat young Bob Meiering of Roswell, N. M., 7 and 6 in what amounted to little more than a tune-up.

Robert Allen, an automobile salesman from Pawtucket, Rhode Island, upset Walker Cupper Ward Wottlauffer of Williamsville, N. Y., 2 and 1.

The only genuine par round for the distance was shot by Bob Brue of Milwaukee, the low qualifier for the tournament. Brue had 37 going out, one over par, and was back in 34.

The field will be cut to 64 players after today's round.

Machen, Besmanoff To Fight Wednesday
PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Heavyweight Eddie Machen has not improved appreciably since being knocked out by Ingemar Johansson, says Willie Besmanoff, who fights Machen here Wednesday night.

"He has fought five fights since losing to Johansson, and in the fights he didn't improve," said Besmanoff. "Every fighter feels a knockout."

The unranked Besmanoff appeared rather confident of his chances against Machen, ranked No. 4 by both Ring magazine and the National Boxing Assn., in their televised bout (ABC, 10 p. m. EDT).

Machen has a 21-1-1 record, which includes 18 knockouts. Besmanoff's record is 41-15-7, including 15 knockouts.

We Lost Game But Found Quarterback, Coach Says

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Except for their slightly-jarred pride, the National Football League champion Baltimore Colts came out of their 35-13 exhibition loss to Philadelphia a stronger club by locating an able substitute for passing wizard Johnny Unitas.

"We lost a game," said coach Weeb Ewbank Monday, "but I found a quarterback."

The find is Ray Brown, who proved invaluable as a defensive specialist in his rookie season with Baltimore last year. Brown took over the No. 2 signal-calling berth held during the 1958 campaign by George Shaw, now with the New York Giants.

Ewbank has been trying to find a passer capable of spelling Unitas or substituting in case of injury to his all-pro quarterback. The choice had narrowed to Brown or Andy Nelson, another defenseman.

Brown, who pitched 'em for Mississippi in his college days, played the entire game Sunday, completing 16 of 33 passes for 199 yards and one touchdown. Only one of his tosses was intercepted.

Norm Van Brocklin, the Eagle quarterback who single-handedly halted the Colts' undefeated string at four games with three TD strikes, also praised the young signal-caller.

While things were beginning to fall in place for the Colts, the Giants announced they would do some experimenting at fullback due to injuries to Mel Triplett and Phil King.

Coach Jim Lee Howell will try fullback Alex Webster at the post while Triplett recuperates from badly bruised hips and King recovers from a leg injury.

The Chicago Bears will start Rudy Bukich at quarterback in the Bears' exhibition with Cleveland Saturday. Bukich has been sharing the signal-calling duties with Zeke Bratkowski and Ed Brown.

Two new faces may open the regular season for Chicago's Cardinals at the offensive slots — Ken Panfil, obtained from Los Angeles and Mac Lewis, a rookie from Iowa.

Darrel Brewster, acquired in a trade with Cleveland, reported to the Pittsburgh Steelers. He'll start at end along with Gern Nagler, obtained from the Cardinals, in Sunday's exhibition against Green Bay.

Green Bay coach Vince Lombardi wangled defensive tackle Henry Jordan from Cleveland in return for a 1960 draft choice.

Grid Officials Examination To Be Offered Here Oct. 5

Sam Brown, secretary-treasurer of the Columbiana County Officials Association, announced today that the Ohio State high school football examination will be given on Oct. 5 at East Liverpool High School.

Brown will administer the test. All prospective officials in the tri-state area wishing to take the exam must first write to the Ohio High School Athletic Association, Columbus, and obtain application blanks.

After they have made application and sent in their fee, they will be issued a card from that office giving them entrance to the examination room for the test, Brown explained.

In conjunction with the exam, Wayne Rose of Wellsville will meet with those men interested in going over the rules and will hold refresher classes later this month.

The examination is open to prospective officials in Ohio, West Virginia and Pennsylvania.

The Columbiana County Officials Association is an accredited group of the state association and the required number of meetings to remain eligible for a card can be met with attendance in East

Liverpool instead of going out of town.

Any further information may be obtained from Rose, Clint Seever, Brown or Bob Duffy at the East Liverpool Review.

Season Ticket Plan Set For Millworkers

Merrill Hall, athletic director at East Liverpool High School, announced today that those persons who have ordered season football tickets can pick them up at Brian's Men's Store on W. 8th St. Hall also said that millworkers on strike may purchase season tickets now and will have until 60 days after they return to work to pay for them.

Boston Pounds 5 Sox Hurlers

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

BOSTON (AP) — Manager Al Lopez shrugged philosophically and decided the situation really hadn't changed much after his Chicago White Sox had their American League-leading margin cut to 4½ games.

"It's still the same thing," he said Monday with a smile. "We just have to go out and try to win one tomorrow."

Five Chicago pitchers took a pounding as Boston ground out a 9-3 decision, while second-place Cleveland gained a full game on the leaders with an 8-5 triumph over New York.

"I haven't walked so much in years," Lopez ruefully announced. He paraded to the mound three times in the sixth inning as Boston chipped away at four Chicago hurlers for six runs.

Three more came in the following inning on rookie Jim Mahoney's first major league homer, his second major league hit.

The White Sox, off their usual form, also committed two errors. Lopez, however, said that wasn't the trouble.

"You can't blame it on defense when a guy like Mahoney hits a homer," he said. Mahoney entered the game hitting .056.

"Our relief pitching was the worst it's been in any one game this year," Lopez explained.

Hawkeyes Quarterback Out With Ankle Injury

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Iowa Hawkeyes, one of the Big Ten's offensive dynamos, may suddenly find 1959 one of those so-so seasons because the main cog—an all-around quarterback—is missing.

Coach Forest Evashevski said as much when fall practice began and has seen little since to change his mind. Today he has only one healthy signal-caller after No. 2 quarterback Wilburn Hollis was sidelined with an ankle sprain.

Olen Treadway is Evashevski's No. 1 quarterback. But he is not the runner that Evashevski needs to keep his winged-T formation functioning to its full potential.

Hollis is a deceptive runner that can keep a defense honest but he lacks Treadway's skill on the long passes.

Don White was moved into full-time duty as Notre Dame quarterback after alternating at fullback. Regular signal-caller George Izo is still sidelined with a knee injury.

Brown has wingback Ray Barry and quarterback Ned Ormond back after being laid up with injuries. Minnesota Coach Murray Warmath put sophs Dave Mulholland and Tom King at the first string halfback spots, replacing vets Bill Kauth and Arlie Bomstad.

Rice tackle Don Rather is on the doubtful list for Saturday's opener against national champion Louisiana State after requiring 12 stitches to close a gash on his nose, suffered in Saturday's scrimmage.

Lakewood Eliminated From ABC Playoffs

BATTLE CREEK, Mich. (AP)—Lakewood, Ohio, has been eliminated from the eastern playoffs of the American Amateur Baseball Congress.

Dearborn, the Michigan champion, bounced Lakewood, 6-3, in third round play Monday. The Ohioans were limited to seven hits and held scoreless until the seventh.

The loss was Lakewood's second in the double-elimination tournament.

In another game, defending national champion Glendale, Ohio, rallied with five runs in the sixth inning to defeat Fort Wayne, Ind., 8-2. Ron Ott went all the way for Glendale, yielding only four hits, while his teammates pounded out 13 including Don Dietrich's homer.

Halfback Erich Barnes and Guard Abe Gibron of the Chicago Bears played college football at Purdue.

Yesterday's Stars

Batting — Dutch Dotterer, Reds, inserted into game when regular catcher Ed Bailey was ejected by umpire. Dotterer drove in two runs with a pair of singles as the Reds defeated the Giants 4-1.

Imagine a truck ride so smooth and cushioned that fragile loads can travel the worst "wash-board" roads with ease. Imagine a truck ride that virtually eliminates shimmy and wheel fight, cuts side sway on curves, makes steering far steadier and easier, keeps drivers far fresher. Imagine a truck ride that permits higher safe cruising speeds, more trips per day with all kinds of cargo over every type of road surface. Imagine a ride that keeps up to 78% of all objectionable road shock and vibration from ever reaching the driver and cargo, a design that sharply reduces twisting and fatigue forces on chassis, cabs and bodies, that keeps trucks young for extra thousands of miles. / Soon you won't have to just imagine such a ride. You can try it for yourself in the trucks that do the next best thing to paving every road in America—new Chevrolet trucks for 1960. You'll see what happens when Chevy's truck engineers design a whole new line of trucks around a whole new kind of torsion-spring suspension. These trucks are new from the ride on up —with wonderfully roomier cabs, brawnier frames, style that's fresh as sixty and more! Don't decide on any new truck till you see the newest of all.

Reformation Day Rites Set

Plans for Reformation Day services Nov. 1 were launched at a meeting of the East Liverpool Ministerial Association Monday at the First Methodist Church.

The Rev. D. Finley Wood, chairman of the union and special days committee, said a union service will be conducted. A speaker of national reputation will be obtained. The time and place will be set later.

The Rev. C. Howard Canon, president, conducted business. The Rev. L. A. Tomb led devotions. The association approved plans for a union training school for all city churches.

The session will be held in the near future and will be for all church officers and Sunday School teachers. Thirteen were present. Art Simmers, station manager for WOHI, guest speaker, discussed religious radio broadcasts and the various possibilities of the association's programs.

The next meeting will be Oct. 5.

How To Get The Best Education

Junior High Is Challenge To The 'Helping Parent'

This is the seventh of 15 articles, condensed from the book, "How To Get The Best Education For Your Child," written by the former education editor of the New York Times and his wife, an educator herself.

By DR. BENJAMIN FINE AND LILLIAN FINE

Before World War I, graduation from the eighth grade marked the end of education for most children.

Today the junior high school plan encourages youngsters to stay in school longer. The majority of "dropouts" now come at the end of the tenth grade. But it has not all been gain.

Some people feel the junior highs give youngsters more freedom than they can handle. Some teachers insist too many extracurricular activities have lowered educational standards.

Pupils ready for junior high at about the age of 12 are no longer children but are not yet adults. The youngster wants desperately to be independent, yet longs for protection and direction. He is likely to alternate between defiance and dependence.

ONE THING IS CLEAR: By the time boys and girls reach high school age, their lives cannot and should not be controlled as strictly as when they were little children. How well they handle their new freedom depends to a considerable extent on their previous training.

Some youngsters who have been kept under firm control have a hard time adjusting to high school. Because there is no one teacher who checks up on them, they loaf, cut classes, fail to hand in assignments.

During the first year your child is in high school, it is particularly desirable to keep in fairly close contact with his progress.

This does not mean of course that you should call for him at school or even visit his teachers frequently. But you should know what courses he is taking, which ones he likes and doesn't like, and the marks he is getting.

If you give him half a chance you can scarcely avoid learning some of these things. Most youngsters are eager to discuss school life. But there are many parents who refuse to listen or are so obviously bored that they discourage confidences.

MANY PARENTS seem baffled by the various courses of study the high school offers and the subjects required for graduation. Most high schools have a printed list of courses and requirements. Get a copy as early as possible, preferably before your youngster enters.

When youngsters move into the junior high school grades and on into senior high school, their studies grow steadily more difficult. In the seventh and eighth grades they study much the same subjects as in the middle grades, but they must master more advanced ideas.

AT THE END of the eighth grade, a youngster should be able to write clear, reasonably correct reports and letters. Unfortunately, there is frequently a great gap between standards and performance.

Senior high school teachers and college professors everywhere complain continually that students today cannot write clear, complete sentences, and that spelling seems to have become a lost art.

Parents can help children gain writing skill by discussing assignments, offering suggestions, and pointing out (tactfully) misspelled words and mistakes in punctuation and grammar. Youngsters who type their assignments are likely to turn out better looking and more correct assignments.

Typewriting an assignment is often an advantage.

The school and public library should be familiar routine for all students.

ers high school, and study it carefully. If you have questions, consult the school officials.

Most high schools require 16 units for graduation. A unit means the credit earned by studying one subject five times a week for a year, completing the assignments and passing the final examination.

A student who takes four subjects a year, beginning in the ninth grade, will earn the required units. However, he must take the subjects required by the course of study he has chosen.

When youngsters move into the junior high school grades and on into senior high school, their studies grow steadily more difficult. In the seventh and eighth grades they study much the same subjects as in the middle grades, but they must master more advanced ideas.

AT THE END of the eighth grade, a youngster should be able to write clear, reasonably correct reports and letters. Unfortunately, there is frequently a great gap between standards and performance.

New Retailing Outlet Slated

A new home furnishings and automotive accessories store will be opened about Oct. 1 in the Holloway Building on Washington St., it was announced today.

Standard Automotive Stores, Inc., of Beaver Falls will operate the retail outlet in the storeroom formerly occupied by King's. George Bright, realtor who negotiated the lease, said.

Bright said the new corporation has signed a lease with Joseph Holloway of Cleveland for the storeroom, which has entrances on both Washington St. and Broadway.

The store will be known as Jerry's. The store manager has not yet been named. Prior to the opening, the storeroom will be redecorated and a new front constructed on Washington St. Paul Brown is the contractor.

It is the second store to be opened by the chain owned by Jerome E. Scherer, who was a former vice president and associated with Burke's Auto Stores for 30 years.

Bright said he also is negotiating leases for the chain for store-rooms in Steubenville and Wheeling.

Khrushchev Visit To Get Heavy TV, Radio Coverage

NEW YORK (AP) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's visit it will be one of the best-covered stories in the history of broadcasting.

Heavy coverage on television and radio is planned by all networks from the start to the finish of his tour.

Among the "live" television programs planned, in addition to his landing at Andrews Air Force Base near Washington today, are Wednesday's luncheon address before the National Press Club in Washington, and Friday's speech to the U.N. General Assembly.

Near the end of his cross-country tour TV viewers will see Khrushchev at a reception at the Soviet Embassy Sept. 24 in Washington, and a press conference at the embassy Sept. 27.

NBC will present an exclusive appearance by the Soviet Premier Sept. 27 from 6 to 7 p. m. (EDT). Arrangements for numerous other live appearances have not been completed. Radio networks also are preparing wide coverage of the tour.

Homicide-Suicide Ruling Given In Couple's Deaths

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP) — A few minutes after their twin sons left them in the living room Monday night, talking about future plans, a Scioto County couple were dead—apparently homicide-suicide victims.

Challis Peyton, 44, shot his wife, Bonnie, 43, in the face with one charge from a 20-gauge shotgun, reloaded the weapon and shot himself in the head, coroner James F. Scott tentatively ruled.

Authorities learned that Peyton had been in a nervous state recently and theorized he went berserk. The Peyton home is along Ohio 140, about 14 miles northeast of Portsmouth.

Officers said the twins, Jon and Jay, 16, told them of going into the back yard to look for their dog and of hearing the first shot about 15 minutes after they left the house. Jon rushed inside just in time to see his father shoot himself, he said.

The boys said that when they went out, their parents were sitting in the living room talking about expanding the small industrial pattern shop they operated at home. Peyton also was employed at the Detroit steel plant here as a patternmaker.

President Signs Bill Concerning Equal Time

WASHINGTON (AP) — Radio and television news programs will be exempt from providing equal time to all political candidates under a bill signed into law by President Eisenhower.

In signing it Monday, the President said in a statement the law will make clear that a brief appearance of a candidate for public office on a bonafide news program "will not require the station to provide equal time to all other persons who are candidates for the same office."

The broadcasting industry had protested that unless the law were changed in this way, its coverage of political campaigns would be disrupted by demands for equal time from many political candidates.

City Motorist Loses License For Demerits

Charles N. Curry, 46, of 715 W. 8th St. has been found guilty as an habitual traffic offender and his license has been suspended until July 30.

Curry was cited before Common Pleas Judge Raymond S. Buzzard Friday under the new demerit system which provides for a year's suspension if a driver accumulates 12 points for traffic offenses.

Curry was convicted twice in Municipal Court for driving while intoxicated, Sept. 5, 1958, and July 30, Judge Buzzard ordered the suspension to begin on the date of his last conviction.
